Ingram Micro Expands Logistics Services Agreement With ACN to Include Flash Wireless

Agreement Further Optimizes the Flash Wireless and ACN Supply Chain

INDIANAPOLIS, March 6, 2013 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Ingram Micro Inc. (NYSE:IM), the world's largest technology distributor and a global leader in IT supply-chain, mobile device lifecycle services and logistics solutions, today announced its mobility division has expanded its logistics services contract with ACN Digital Phone Service, LLC ("ACN"), to provide forward and reverse logistics services for mobile virtual network operator (MVNO), Flash Wireless LLC ("Flash Wireless") in the U.S.

Under the terms of the agreement, Ingram Micro Mobility, formally known as BrightPoint, will provide a variety of critical logistic services including handset flashing, packaging, procurement services, special service requests, order fulfillment, reverse logistics, asset management and repair services for Flash Wireless.

"Ingram Micro Mobility is recognized for its world-class forward and reverse logistics services, and we are pleased to expand our relationship to include Flash Wireless. This agreement further optimizes the Flash Wireless and ACN supply chain, allowing ACN to maintain lower inventory levels and reduced operating costs," said Hayri Barutcu, Flash Wireless GM, ACN. "We are confident that Ingram Micro Mobility's innovative services will further assist us in our mission to provide our customers with the best possible wireless experience."

"We are pleased to expand the scope of our relationship with ACN and provide our expertise in managing the device lifecycle for Flash Wireless," said Bashar Nejdawi, president Ingram Micro Mobility North America. "Our Customize, Move and Recover services provide a lean and efficient supply chain that is expected to accelerate the availability of wireless devices to the company's customers across the continent."
