Pet Owner Alert: Flea and Tick Season Starting Early This Year

Adams™ Pet Products Urges Pet Owners to Protect Against Pest Infestation Now

WALNUT CREEK, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Adams™ Pet Products, a brand of Central Garden & Pet Company (NASDAQ:CENT) (NASDAQ:CENTA), is advising pet owners nationwide to take proactive measures now against flea and tick infestations as a result of upcoming unseasonably hot weather. Sources such as Farmer's Almanac confirm forecasts that nearly 95 percent of the U.S. will have warmer than average temperatures this spring and summer. This unusual early heat may help jump-start flea and tick outbreaks months before pet owners typically treat their pets, home and yard, potentially catching households unprepared and vulnerable to harmful infestations.

"Smarter pet care is treating pets, home and yard before a flea and tick outbreak takes hold, so now is the time to act," said Bernadine Cruz, DVM, host of the highly-rated, national radio show The Pet Doctor. "Adams™ award-winning lineup of products offer the best possible at-home-care treatments, helping pet owners put up a strong defense on their own."

Fleas and ticks thrive when temperatures are above 70°F. As ten adult female fleas can produce nearly 10,000 flea eggs in just 30 days, infestations can become serious quickly. To get ahead of a potential problem, smarter pet care tips, valuable coupons and information about Adams'™ award-winning pet care products are available now at www.adamspetcare.com. For example, smarter pet care is comprehensively eliminating pests wherever they may be hiding – on a pet, in the home, or in a yard. Many Adams™ flea and tick control products not only kill adult fleas & ticks, but also contain the Infest Stop™* ingredient to kill flea eggs and larvae to keep them from becoming biting adults.

Sold by veterinarians for more than 30 years, the Adams™ family of products includes easy-to-use topical products, shampoos, collars and sprays for dogs, puppies, cats and kittens.
