As the global authority on workplace culture and employee experience, Ameresco's certification by Great Place to Work highlights the company's investment in its employees and commitment to developing the next generation of sustainable leaders. Results from the survey demonstrate that the significant majority of Ameresco's employees feel that the company is a great place to work, that they trusted management and felt the company not only made them feel welcome, but offered them the opportunity to take on new responsibilities.

"Great Place to Work Certification™ isn't something that comes easily – it takes ongoing dedication to the employee experience," said Sarah Lewis-Kulin, Vice President of Global Recognition at Great Place to Work. "It's the only official recognition determined by employees' real-time reports of their company culture. Earning this designation means that Ameresco is one of the best companies to work for in the country."

Ameresco values every employee in the company coming together with the same goal in mind: innovation and meaningful action for a clean, resilient future. This attitude reinforces Ameresco's dedication to pursuing excellence and working towards a cleaner future. The company also prioritizes employing a workforce that is reflective of the areas it serves, and has implemented steps to enhance internal diversity by focusing on diversity, equity and inclusion initiatives and talent recruiting.

"We are thrilled to become Great Place to Work-Certified™ as we value all of our hard working employees who show a passion and drive to energize a sustainable world," said President and Chief Executive Officer George Sakellaris. "At Ameresco, we believe in doing well by doing good, which is why we prioritize investing in our employees."
