Alico Inc. Announces CEO Succession Plan

LABELLE, Fla., Jan. 23, 2008 (PRIME NEWSWIRE) -- Alico, Inc. (Nasdaq:ALCO), a land management company, announced that John R. Alexander, its Chief Executive Officer and Chairman of the Board has recommended that Dan L. Gunter, President and Chief Operating Officer, be named Chief Executive Officer of the Company effective June 30, 2008. Mr. Alexander plans to continue in his role of Chairman of the Board.

Mr. Alexander stated, "On April 17, 2006 we implemented a succession plan for the CEO by hiring Dan Gunter as President and Chief Operating Officer. In the year and a half that Dan has been at Alico, he has 'earned his stripes' by developing the respect and loyalty of every member of the Alico management team and all those employees with whom he has come in contact. Dan and I have worked very closely together during this time, and I have found him to be a good thinker, a team player, cooperative, energetic, articulate and an executive capable of leading Alico.

"I remain excited and challenged every day with my responsibilities at Alico; however, I believe that now is the time to take the next step in the succession plan by naming Dan Gunter as the CEO. Subject to Board support, I intend to continue to be an active Chairman of the Board."

At the Board of Directors meeting on January 18, 2008, the Board approved the Chairman's recommendation for a succession plan and thanked him for his services as CEO during the past three years.
