DETAILS:

Given that what you do in 2014 can impact your organization in the future, today's employers need effective solutions that manage compliance requirements and streamline HR processes. In order to help employers maximize their resources and achieve their compliance goals, Equifax Workforce Solutions will share its industry-leading insight and expertise during two educational and engaging webinars:

"ACA Compliance and Higher Education: Understanding Eligibility and IRS Reporting"

During this session, Kristin Lewis, director of Product Management for Equifax Workforce Solutions, will join Tom Dowling, partner, Stinson Leonard Street LLP, to discuss the specific ACA compliance risks that exist for higher education as well as best practices for ongoing ACA management. In addition, this session will review the special rules that apply to higher education when it comes to measuring and tracking hours to determine who is eligible for coverage and the proper way to communicate this information across the institution to multiple stakeholders. Attendees of this webinar will learn more about calculating look-back periods and IRS reporting and take away actionable insights on the processes they can put in place to ensure their institution remains compliant today and in the future.

"Compliance that Pays for Itself"

Today's organizations face escalating compliance challenges as well as risks in onboarding new employees. During this insightful session, the experts from Equifax Workforce Solutions will join Debra Parent, senior manager of Human Resources Operations at Pacific Sunwear, and Steve Sands, senior HR manager for the Hardee's Food Systems division of CKE, to explore how organizations can improve compliance and create a positive financial impact for their organizations. Attendees will hear from Parent and Sands about the risks that their organizations faced in their respective industries as well as how each organization overcame the challenges by implementing an automated onboarding system focused on compliance. In addition, attendees will learn about offsetting the cost of these systems with the financial impact of improved hiring tax credit (WOTC) screening.

Attendees: HR, payroll and tax professionals, and business leaders interested in learning more about the latest compliance updates and best practices for navigating these requirements are encouraged to attend these educational sessions.
