DETAILS:

Continued government focus on UI Integrity means that unemployment claims response is no longer an issue of whether or not to protest a claim, but a matter of UI compliance that involves increasing penalties. As a result, it is in the best interest of employers to both understand and remain updated on the latest updates on both the state and federal level.

During "UI Integrity: Compliant Claims Response," Lori Roberts, senior manager of Government Relations; Dave Meinert, director of Tax Management Consulting; Jennifer Redden, director, Claim Services; and Mike Mohr, vice president of Sales Operations for Equifax Workforce Solutions, will provide an update on the evolving UI system, offering up-to-date guidance on state interpretations of the federal mandate. The panel will discuss ongoing efforts by state agencies to identify overpayments and enforce non-compliance penalties as well as what this means for employers. In addition, the panel will share best practices for timely and adequate claims response to ensure UI compliance moving forward. Attendees of this webinar will also receive the most recently updated white paper on UI Integrity and Compliance featuring a state-by-state matrix with interpretations of a "pattern of failure," non-compliance penalties and overpayment rates.
