DETAILS:

In its upcoming webinars, Equifax Workforce Solutions will cover important legislative changes to the Form I-9 and key compliance considerations impacting unemployment claims processing.

What You Need to Know Now about Form I-9 and Immigration Enforcement

In this session, Jason Fry, senior director, Product Management and Brian Elfrink, director, I-9 Product Management for Equifax Workforce Solutions will join Monserrat Miller, partner, Arnall Golden Gregory LLP. Exploring the new Form I-9 going into effect this September, Fry, Elfrink and Miller will focus on what employers need to know. In addition, Fry, Elfrink and Miller will share best practices for improving Form I-9 compliance during new hire onboarding and offer tips for mitigating potential risks.

Dot-to-Doc: Connecting the Dots between HR Documentation and Unemployment Liability

During this presentation, Bob Austin, vice president, UC Operations and Steve Solovic, JD, director, Claim Services for Equifax Workforce Solutions, will examine unemployment claims documentation. Digging into the connectivity between written agreements, employee policies, performance evaluations and more, Austin and Solovic will help connect the dots between documentation and risk. In addition, Austin and Solovic will provide actionable insights into which documents tend to have the most impact on unemployment case decisions and ways to improve separation process documentation.

Attendees: Business leaders as well as finance and HR professionals interested in learning more about the impact of legislative updates and the ways Equifax Workforce Solutions can support their organizations are encouraged to attend these informative presentations.

These sessions are part of a series of educational webinars presented by Equifax Workforce Solutions.
