Westell Technologies Announces Management Changes

AURORA, Ill.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--

Westell Technologies, Inc. (NASDAQ: WSTL), a leading provider of broadband access products and conferencing services, today announced that Amy Forster was named Senior Vice President & Chief Financial Officer (CFO). She will be responsible for managing Westell's Corporate Finance Operations including Westell's domestic and international subsidiaries. She joined Westell in 1994 and most recently served as Executive Director of Finance. Forster rejoins Westell after serving as the Managing Director of Finance and Controller for Claymore Securities, Inc.

Nicholas C. Hindman, Sr. who has served as Westell's CFO since 1999 will be assuming the responsibilities of the newly created position of Chief Operating Officer (COO). In his new role, Hindman will be responsible for managing Westell's Global Product Supply Chain Operations and he will support Thomas E. Mader, President and CEO in business development activities. Hindman will continue to be responsible for Corporate Planning, Project Management and Information Technology.

"These changes are being made to improve Westell's ability to adapt to a constantly changing marketplace and to strategically position the Company for future growth. I look forward to working with Amy and Nick as we position Westell for continuing success," Mader said.

The two appointments will become effective on July 2.
