(NASDAQ: PRTS) ("CarParts.com"), a leading online provider of automotive parts and accessories, proudly announces the opening of its new state-of-the-art fulfillment center in Las Vegas, Nevada. This strategic move to a larger location has doubled the company's footprint in the Las Vegas metro area, marking a significant milestone in CarParts.com's commitment to improving customer service and operational efficiency. The new facility replaces the previous Las Vegas Distribution Center, which had been in operation since 2019.

The fully automated center is integrated with cutting-edge AI capabilities designed to optimize operations, improve safety, and expand product availability. Commencing operations in Q2 of 2024, the 202,000-square-foot facility represents a new era of growth for CarParts.com. This expansion allows the company to meet the increasing demand for automotive parts and accessories, ensuring quicker deliveries for customers while providing the long-term capacity to serve the West Coast for years to come.

"Our focus has always been on understanding and meeting our customers' needs, and our new Las Vegas fulfillment center is a testament to that," added Huffaker.
