I have worked with Ken and the RCG team on many client opportunities and they deliver extraordinary insights that are critical in guiding investment decisions for our clients. As we continue to develop our global platform, we see opportunities to extend this integrated approach to strategic markets outside the U.S. as well."

The RCG team also includes Partners Arthur Margon, Randall Sakamoto and David Bank. Margon, who oversees RCG's New York presence, has more than four decades of experience in real estate consulting and market analysis, including 5 years at Arthur Andersen developing securitization models, restructuring bank loan portfolios, managing due diligence projects, and serving as an independent fiduciary in a major pension fund reorganization. Sakamoto, President of RCG, has more than 20 years of experience in real estate research, data analytics, consulting and strategic advisory. David Bank joined RCG after serving as an Economist at the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, where he conducted economic and market analysis and authored housing market reports for the Office of Policy Development and Research (PD&R).

"We are incredibly optimistic about the future of RCG and Andersen under this arrangement which not only allows us to continue to provide strategic consulting to assist clients in guiding their investment decisions, but also to expand the scope of the support we provide clients through a highly complementary global service platform," said Ken Rosen.
