China Auto Finance and Leasing Trends Detailed in NetSol Technologies' White Paper

Analysis Presented at 2015 China Leasing Summit and Available Free for Download

CALABASAS, Calif., June 10, 2015 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) --NetSol Technologies, Inc. (Nasdaq:NTWK), a global provider of IT and enterprise software solutions, today announced the availability of a white paper, "Development Status and Prospect of Auto Leasing in China," coinciding with the company's participation in the 8th Annual China Leasing Summit, June 10-12, 2015 in Beijing.

The paper highlights factors promoting auto financing in China, including increase in per capita income, infrastructure development, consumer consumption patterns, and policy driven growth, while also providing an overview of the current state and future prospect of the financing and leasing market.

"We believe one out of every three cars in the world will be sold in China within the next 10 years – and consumer adoption of financing and leasing will play a large part of that trend," said Najeeb Ghauri, CEO of NetSol. "As the leading finance and leasing software provider in China, we are well positioned to offer our expertise to auto captives, banks and other financial organizations as they enter the market, and to continue to grow with our customers as the market matures."

The white paper is available free for download at <http://whitepaper.netsoltech.com/>
