"Our partners have helped address and support the significant demand for our technology. Most importantly, our ecosystem has allowed us to democratize RPA and drive the 'automation first' era," said Chris Morgan, Global VP of Partners & Alliances at UiPath. "FORWARD is the place for customers and partners to see fresh ideas and new concepts for UiPath's automation platform innovation. We are excited that these partners have decided to sponsor and look forward to accelerating our joint success."

This year's FORWARD III conference theme "Reboot Work" encourages everyone to stop working in old, outdated, ways, and to start working a new way, a better way, a way that frees workers to do the work worth doing. Attendees will hear from more than 40 speakers, including keynotes from David Eagleman, bestselling author (The Brain) and neuroscientist, and Forrester's Craig Le Clair – along with UiPath executives, product experts and customers including Amazon, Chevron and Pandora.
