Ingram Micro Mobility Expects to Accelerate Growth of BLU Products Through New Distribution Agreement

INDIANAPOLIS, IN -- (Marketwired) -- 12/17/14 -- With the goal of increasing growth of the BLU unlocked mobile device portfolio, CT Miami, LLC, owner of BLU Products, has entered a distribution agreement with Ingram Micro Mobility. Through the agreement, Ingram Micro Mobility, a business unit of Ingram Micro Inc. (NYSE: IM), will help grow the retail presence of BLU Products throughout its vast distribution network, including network operators, national retailers and e-Commerce channels in the United States and Canada.

"There is growing demand in the U.S. and Canada for unlocked devices, of which BLU is a market leader," said Samuel Ohev-Zion, CEO of BLU Products. "Working with Ingram Micro Mobility will allow us to scale, and meet the increased consumer demand for our BLU smartphone devices. We see a shift in the market, leaning towards unlocked devices in retail, where the consumer now has a growing choice of network providers."

"BLU offers consumers a wide portfolio of impressively designed smartphone devices with great performance and incredible value," said Bashar Nejdawi, executive vice president, Ingram Micro and president, North America, Ingram Micro Mobility. "We anticipate demand and sales of BLU unlocked devices will continue to grow through an accelerated retail presence."
