Company forms a new subsidiary, Avalon Quantum AI, LLC, in connection with the acquisition

Acquisition expected to resolve Nasdaq minimum stockholders' equity deficiency

RPM Interactive has developed a fully automated, generative AI powered SaaS platform for creating short-form video content

FREEHOLD, N.J., Dec. 15, 2025 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Avalon GloboCare Corp. ("Avalon" or the "Company") (NASDAQ: ALBT), a developer of precision diagnostic consumer products, today announced that it has acquired RPM Interactive, Inc. ("RPM"), a generative artificial intelligence ("AI") publishing and software company, in an all-stock transaction. As a result of the acquisition, the Company believes its stockholders' equity now exceeds the $2.5 million minimum required for continued listing on The Nasdaq Capital Market under Nasdaq Listing Rule 5550(b)(1).

Under the terms of the Agreement and Plan of Merger dated December 12, 2025 by and among the Company, Avalon Quantum AI, LLC and RPM (the "Merger Agreement"), RPM merged with and into Avalon Quantum AI, LLC, a wholly-owned subsidiary of the Company (the "Merger"). In connection with the Merger, Avalon issued 19,500 shares of Series E Non-Voting Convertible Preferred Stock ("Series E Preferred Stock") to RPM's stockholders, representing a total purchase price of $19.5 million. Each share of Series E Preferred Stock carries a stated value of $1,000 and is convertible into shares of Avalon's common stock at a $1.50 conversion price, subject to customary conditions and subject to a beneficial ownership limitation at any time of 4.99% of the number of shares issued and outstanding. The Series E Preferred Stock is only convertible from and after May 12, 2026 and any such conversion is subject to the Company obtaining shareholder approval in accordance with Nasdaq Listing Rules among other limitations on conversion.

RPM has developed the Catch-Up Software-as-a-Service (SaaS) platform, a system that intelligently sources relevant video clips, generates human-like AI commentary, creates an engaging on-screen avatar, and publishes finished content to all major platforms – all on an automated basis. Marketing for this software platform is expected to begin immediately after the new year.

The Catch-Up SaaS platform is expected to be licensed to successful content creators, media companies, and brands to efficiently generate recap-style videos across news, politics, sports, finance, entertainment, and other evergreen categories—without requiring manual editing, production tools, or technical expertise. This new, unique video format has been designed to give successful content creators a second video format to publish with, driving up their volume of videos produced each week and revenues.

Avalon plans to leverage the Catch-Up platform to support and amplify marketing initiatives for KetoAir™, the Company's FDA-registered breathalyzer designed to help consumers easily monitor and manage their wellness and metabolic health. The pairing of Avalon's consumer health products with RPM's AI-driven content engine is expected to accelerate audience reach, digital engagement, and adoption of Avalon's product portfolio.

"The acquisition of RPM is an important strategic step for Avalon," said Meng Li, Interim Chief Executive Officer and Chief Operating Officer of Avalon GloboCare. "Integrating RPM's AI-driven video studio with our consumer health products, starting with the launch of KetoAir™, will enhance our marketing capabilities, broaden our digital reach, and support our long-term value creation strategy. We look forward to leveraging RPM's technology to elevate our brand visibility and strengthen our position in the precision wellness market."

"RPM's Catch-Up SaaS platform represents a breakthrough in how short-form video content can be created, scaled, and monetized," said Michael Mathews, Chief Executive Officer of RPM. "By leveraging our fully automated generative AI video studio to support the marketing and efforts behind Avalon's KetoAir™, we believe we can significantly enhance digital engagement and create new opportunities to reach health and wellness-focused consumers."

Pursuant to the Merger Agreement, Michael Mathews has been appointed to Avalon's Board of Directors. Michael Mathews is a seasoned technology and digital media executive with more than two decades of leadership experience across AI, internet services, digital marketing, and online learning sectors. He currently serves as Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of Aspen Group, Inc. (OTCQB: ASPU), which owns Aspen University and United States University. ASPU holds a unique position in the higher education sector, as they uniquely offer students monthly payment plans allowing students the ability to graduate debt free.

Previously, Mr. Mathews served as Chief Executive Officer and Director of Interclick, Inc., a data-driven digital advertising technology company. Under his leadership, Interclick became a category leader and was acquired by Yahoo, Inc. in 2011.

Earlier in his career, Mr. Mathews held senior leadership roles including Senior Vice President of Marketing and Publisher Services at World Avenue U.S.A., LLC, where he oversaw strategic marketing, publisher development, and large-scale digital distribution initiatives.

"Michael is a recognized innovator in performance marketing and AI-enabled content systems," added Meng Li, Interim Chief Executive Officer and Chief Operating Officer of Avalon GloboCare. "He brings deep experience in scaling technology platforms, driving digital engagement, and building long-term shareholder value. We are pleased to welcome him to our Board as we execute on our growth and technology integration strategy."

E.F. Hutton & Co. served as financial advisor to RPM Interactive, Inc. in connection with the transaction.

The Company also has a pending merger with YOOV Group Holdings Limited, a provider of advanced artificial intelligence automation solutions and currently has an S-4 registration statement on file with the Securities and Exchange Commission that was originally filed April 29, 2025.
