PHOENIX, Jan. 22, 2018 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- The Uptick Newswire “Stock Day” podcast keeps investors up to date on the latest penny stock news by bringing transparency in the micro-cap side of the market. Connect with “Stock Day” and to over 600+ CEO interviews on the OTC, Pink Sheets and micro-cap news from around the world by following Stock Day’s YouTube, Google Play and iTunes. After many recent news announcements from the Company Everett Jolly, CEO and host of “Stock Day”, was honored to have CEO Brady Granier from BioCorRx® Inc. (OTCQB:BICX) (“Company”) back onto the show.

Noting that the stock price of the Company has doubled (as of the date of the interview last week) since the last appearance Mr. Jolly allows Mr. Granier the opportunity to discuss the latest developments of the long-sought FDA approval. Mr. Granier introduces the two operational portions of the Company; the substance abuse treatment portion as well as a pharmaceutical research and development program which aims at taking the first naltrexone implant through the U.S. Food and Drug Administration regulatory approval process.

In a December 2017 appearance on Fox & Friends, a Fox News Channel morning program, Mr. Granier discussed the success of a recent BioCorRx® Recovery Program recipient. BioCorRx® has developed a proprietary Cognitive Behavioral Therapy (CBT) program along with a peer support program built around the use of long term naltrexone implants for the treatment of opioid and alcohol use disorders. Naltrexone is a medication that can block the euphoric effects of alcohol and opioids, as well as the cravings for these substances. Currently this recovery program is offered at several treatment centers throughout the United States but insurance reimbursement is not consistent.

BICX102 is the naltrexone implant in which the Company is seeking FDA approval and the National Institute on Drug Abuse (NIDA) and the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism (NIAAA) have both shown interest in the project. BioCorRx® submitted their development plan to the FDA in December and is scheduled to meet with the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) on January 24, 2018. Mr. Granier believes that an FDA approval will increase the likelihood that insurance companies will begin to cover the implant.

“Naltrexone in various forms and indications has been approved four times by the FDA, so there is not a lot of question about how naltrexone works or how safe naltrexone is. Really, we are looking at more on the delivery of it” Mr. Granier explains. President Donald Trump declared the opioid crisis as a national health emergency back in August of 2017. This sets a high demand of treatment options for those afflicted by this crisis.

The BioCorRx® Recovery Program is currently sold to alcohol and substance abuse treatment centers, providing some current revenues for the company. Mr. Granier plans to continue pursuing FDA approval for the implant while also expanding accessibility of the BioCorRx® Recovery Program which has been already helping people. For the latest treatment resources, Mr. Granier encourages those who may be suffering from substance abuse, or who knows someone who may benefit from treatment options, to visit the treatment side of the company at www.BeatAddiction.com.

About BioCorRx

BioCorRx Inc. (OTCQB:BICX) is an addiction treatment company offering a unique approach to the treatment of substance abuse addiction. The BioCorRx® Recovery Program, a non-addictive, medication-assisted treatment (MAT) program, consists of two main components. The first component of the program consists of an outpatient implant procedure performed by a licensed physician. The implant delivers the non-addictive medicine, naltrexone, an opioid antagonist that can significantly reduce physical cravings for alcohol and opioids. The second component of the program developed by BioCorRx Inc. is a one-on-one counseling program specifically tailored for the treatment of alcoholism and other substance abuse addictions for those receiving long-term naltrexone treatment. The Company also has an R&D subsidiary, BioCorRx® Pharmaceuticals, which is currently developing injectable and implantable naltrexone products for potential future regulatory approval.
