Micro-cap Portfolio

The micro-capital portfolio is a collection of WSR's best ideas and is intended to help speculative investors increase their investment performance. Positions in the portfolio include early stage companies and other micro-capital companies that appear to be significantly under-valued or technically attractive. Early stage companies are typically WSR clients and (in our opinion) have the potential for a three hundred percent return over the next three to five years. Other companies included in the portfolio are generally trading at a significant discount to their peers, breaking out of long-term bases, are turn-around plays, or have recently announced a significant event. Changes to the portfolio are emailed to WSR's subscribers via its Daily Notes publication and are updated each month in The Emerging Growth News.

Note: Past performance does not guarantee future success, and an investment in the model theoretical portfolio might lose money. Dividends and commissions are not included in performance calculations. The model theoretical performance noted above includes performance history of the model micro-capital portfolio. The theoretical performance contains many high-risk speculative stocks, which tend to be more volatile and more illiquid than larger more established companies. The theoretical performance of the model does not represent actual trading and does not reflect material economic, psychological and market factors that might have impacted the results if actual money had been invested. While no companies pay a fee to be included in our micro-capital portfolio, certain companies, which are published as featured companies on our website, pay a due diligence fee for participation in the Wall Street Resources' financial publication and distribution program. In compliance with rule 17b of the Securities and Exchange Commission, detailed information regarding compensation from such companies is included on the last page of such reports, is explained in the disclaimer located at <http://wallstreetresources.net/disclaimer.html>, and is located on the last page of this newsletter. Tax consequences must be carefully considered. We, our affiliates, and any officer, director or stockholder or any member of their families may have a position in and may from time to time purchase or sell any securities included in our micro-capital portfolio. Wall Street Resources, Inc. is a financial publisher and not a broker/dealer or registered investment advisor, and thus all trades and actual trading, decisions are made solely by the individual investor, not by Wall Street Resources, Inc. Wall Street Resources, Inc. and/or the employees of Wall Street Resources, Inc. will not be held responsible for any losses that might occur from the use of the information provided in our model portfolio that might be acted upon by an investor. Changes in our theoretical portfolio and current quote prices are made as of the last trading day of each month and based upon the closed price.

Special Note: During the completion of our Micro-cap Portfolio update for the period ending 5/31/07 we became aware of errors in our Micro-cap Portfolio positions published in our monthly newsletter as well as in our monthly Micro-cap Portfolio performance reports in relation to the posted additions and deletions of portfolio positions published in our Daily Notes. These changes were clearly posted in our Daily Notes publication for many days or even weeks, but were not correctly recorded into the Micro-cap Portfolio performance tracking sheet. The aforementioned Micro-cap Portfolio positions and performance measures now accurately reflect portfolio positions according to our published changes. In most cases these omissions lead to under reporting our performance since the 1st reporting errors occurred in April of 2006. We are in the process of correcting all of the Micro-cap Portfolios and corresponding performance calculations in each of our monthly newsletters going back to April of 2006. We have also added measures to minimize the possibility of future reporting errors.

MAY'S COMPANIES OF INTEREST:

WSR CORPORATE SPONSORS:

Wall Street Resources is a professional research and consulting firm connecting under-followed emerging growth companies with sophisticated investors looking for emerging growth company investment ideas. Leveraging over a decade of experience analyzing micro-to-small capital companies, the principals of WSR are dedicated to providing aggressive investors with unique opportunities, while helping emerging growth companies communicate with the investment community. The following companies are WSR's current clients which support its financial publications:

Featured Companies:Advanced Growing Systems, Inc.*OTC:AGWS

Advanced Growing Systems, Inc. ("AGSI" or the "Company") recently announced that its April 2007 sales were $1,097,087 up 260% from $421,315 in April of 2006. The Company also announced that it has filed with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission a Form 10-SB to become a fully reporting company. The filing of the Form 10-SB will meet the reporting requirements to list the Company's common stock on the Over the Counter Bulletin Board (OTCBB) quotation system. Although there can be no assurances, this is the first step in the Company's ultimate goal of listing on a national exchange by late 2007.

Advanced Growing Systems, Inc., founded in 2006, is the parent company of Organic Growing Systems, Inc. (a scientifically advanced Organic fertilizer manufacturer) and Advanced Nurseries, Inc. (a wholesale group of Commercial Nurseries located in the Southeastern US). AGSI is dedicated to providing its shareholders significant value and is directly involved in the $48 Billion fertilizer market and the $66 Billion Green Industry. AGSI was founded by a skilled group of industry professionals each with over 20 years of direct experience in the "Green" industry. Click here to obtain additional information...

Axiom Technologies, Inc.OTC:AXGI

Axiom Technologies, Inc. ("AXGI" or the "Company"), a leading provider of surveillance security systems software and hardware, recently released a 36-page analytical profile issued by Wall Street Resources explaining its business model, products, industry, valuation, management and risks. The free report is available at: www.wallstreetresources.net/pdf/fc/AXGI.pdf or by clicking the link below to obtain more information.

The Company has also recently announced the completion of a licensing agreement with Samsung Techwin for its Maximum Software and the Software-Based Network Video Recorder Products. The agreement calls for Axiom to create versions of the Maximum Software and the Network Video Products that specifically operate with the Samsung Techwin suite of Digital Video Recorders. The initial delivery of products is scheduled for 4th quarter of 2007. Axiom will retain industrial and intellectual property rights for the products that when under full production will deliver a minimum of $1.0 million annually to the Company.

BlueFire Ethanol, Inc.OTC:BFRE

BlueFire Ethanol, Inc. recently announced the Company has been selected to receive $1 million in grant funding from the California Energy Commission (CEC) as well as up to $40 million from the U.S. Department of Energy's (DOE) cellulosic ethanol grant program to develop several solid waste biorefineries in Southern California. BlueFire Ethanol plans to build several ethanol facilities throughout California and North America through a process that could be repeated at most of the more than 1,600 landfill sites across the nation.

BlueFire Ethanol Fuels, Inc. is established to deploy the commercially ready, patented, and proven Arkenol Technology Process for the profitable conversion of cellulosic ("Green Waste") waste materials to ethanol, a viable alternative to gasoline. BlueFire's use of the Arkenol Process Technology positions it as the only cellulose-to-ethanol company worldwide with demonstrated production of ethanol from urban trash (post-sorted MSW), rice and wheat straws, wood waste and other agricultural residues. Our goal is to develop and operate high-value carbohydrate-based transportation fuel production facilities worldwide. These "biorefineries" will convert widely available, inexpensive, organic materials such as agricultural residues, high-content biomass crops, wood residues, and cellulose from MSW into ethanol. BlueFire intends to build a multinational company that leads the world in producing biobased transportation fuels. Its business will encompass development activities leading to the construction and long-term operation of production facilities while maintaining technological advantage and ownership of the process technology and all its improvements. Ethanol will be produced from biorefinery facilities opportunistically constructed on or near landfills, waste collection and waste separation sites. Each facility will deploy the proprietary technology, which uses all cellulosic waste materials traditionally disposed of in landfills as feedstock.

Edentify, Inc. OTCBB:EDFY

Edentify, Inc. ('Edentify') was formed in August 2004 with the objective of becoming the leading organization in the field of developing and deploying data analysis technology solutions for preventing identity theft and fraud. It is currently a later development-stage company and expects shortly to begin a period of growth. Edentify will seek to fulfill its goals by analyzing the means by which identity crimes are perpetrated and through the development of new technologies and procedures to assist corporations, the government, and consumers in the fight against identity fraud and related crime.

Edentify owns the intellectual property rights to two strategic approaches towards the detection and prevention of identity fraud. One is a patented information-based approach that analyzes identity data information for individuals in large databases, and is capable of detecting and scoring incidences of identity manipulation and potential theft (Identity Quotient Index(TM)). Edentify will continue to market this technology to the financial services industry, as well as to large healthcare organizations and local, state, and federal government agencies.

The second approach, which is still under development, is a biometric technology that will be marketed through and is named after our wholly-owned subsidiary, InMotion Biometrics, Inc. ('IMB'). This novel set of algorithms combines face and voice recognition techniques for authenticating the identity of an individual. Additionally, the system is designed as a multi-modal platform capable of combining the reading of two or more biometric technologies simultaneously. Edentify is based in Bethlehem, Pa.

Nanobac in recent news announced that scientists at Mayo Clinic, working under a collaborative agreement with Nanobac have cited evidence showing the presence of calcifying nanoparticles (CNPs) in plaque-filled arteries in animal models. This potentially represents a previously unrecognized factor in the development of arteriosclerosis and calcific arterial disease.

The project seeks to determine if human derived nanoparticles are pathogenic and induce inflammatory and calcific pathologic arterial disease. Scientific evidence increasingly links arterial calcification to the presence of nanosized particles. The project also seeks to confirm prior Nanobac studies, conducted at Washington Hospital, that Nanobac's diagnostic test specifically identifies CNPs.

Third-Order Nanotechnologies, Inc.OTC:TDON

Third-Order Nanotechnologies in recent news announced that Dr. David F. Eaton has agreed to serve as the Company's interim Chief Technology Officer. Dr. Eaton will provide advice on Third-Order's products, services, strategy, and structure; communicate the vision of the Company to industry groups, and to the technical trade press; and lead, manage and participate in the research and development and creation of Third-Order's fiber optic communications components that are based on the Company's polymer lightwave switching technology.

Previously, Dr. Eaton spent thirty years with DuPont where he worked in research & development, research & development management and business leadership positions. Dr. Eaton spearheaded DuPont's entry into polymer-based components for fiber optic telecommunication by founding DuPont Photonics Technology, a wholly owned subsidiary of DuPont. Before that, he developed and commercialized Cyrel® FAST photopolymer product line. Dr. Eaton started his career with DuPont as a research scientist in Corporate Research & Development focusing on photochemistry. He earned his Ph.D. in Organic Chemistry from CalTech.

Third-Order Nanotechnologies is a developmental stage company focused on revolutionary research and development of electro-optic polymers, material systems and components. Historically, no one has been able to solve the problem of polymer stability, meaning that as polymers became more powerful, their stability decreases. Third-Order Nanotechnologies undertook a radical departure from conventional polymer science, and appears to have solved the stability issue surrounding EO polymer. Apart from its demonstrated molecular stability and high performance, the Company's technology is also highly scalable and significantly less expensive to manufacture than competitive technologies.

Third-Order Nanotechnologies is on the verge of initial commercialization and there are an unlimited number of potential applications for the Company's technology in sectors including telecommunications, medical imaging, and government intelligence agencies.

U.S. Sustainable Energy CorporationOTC:USSE

U.S. Sustainable Energy Corp. recently announced the formation of a joint venture with Agri Max Fuels, LLC specifically to utilize the USSEC/SSTP suite of products. Initial focus will be producing ethanol/diesel/bio-diesel blends made possible by USSEC's proprietary fuel additive. As per a previous licensing agreement, SSTP has the exclusive rights to market the fuel.

Agri Max Fuels, LLC currently operates a bio-diesel facility capable of producing approximately 15,000 gallons of biodiesel per day. The Joint Venture was formed to expand the operations of this initial plant and will focus on blending ethanol with biodiesel and diesel. The joint venture includes provisions for expanding production up to one hundred million gallons per year of biodiesel.

USSEC/SSTP holds patent pending technology for a new breakthrough biofuel and carbon based fertilizer. USSEC has successfully demonstrated the most cost effective method of producing biofuel estimated at $.50/gallon according to exhaustive studies and independent Lab confirmation. The company has developed the process, units and catalyst that will transform agricultural biomass into biofuel and fertilizer. This technology offers a solution for foreign oil dependence, balancing industrial and agricultural concerns with environmental issues and stabilizing and eventually reversing global greenhouse gas emissions. USSEC's research and development has successfully demonstrated the core technology in its fully functional facility located in Port Gibson, MS.
