Medical Staffing Network Holdings, Inc. up 103.7% in September!

By Paul Silver

During the month of September 2009, Medical Staffing Network Holdings, Inc. (“Medical Staffing” or “the Company”), that trades on the OTC exchange under the symbol (OTC:MSNW), was our best Florida Top 30 performer with a price increase of 103.7% from its addition to the portfolio on 9/8/09 to 9/30/09. Founded in 1998, Medical Staffing is a diversified temporary healthcare staffing company and the largest provider of per diem staffing services in the U.S. as measured by revenues.

The Company provides hospitals and other healthcare facilities with a wide range of staffing services, including per diem nurses, travel and short term contract-based nurses and allied health professionals. While Medical Staffing has a national presence, it operates on a local basis through an integrated network, which consisted of over 75 per diem branches in 38 states as of June 2009, so that it may develop significant relationships with its clients and healthcare professionals. It services all 50 states through its travel nurse and allied health staffing divisions. The Company’s extensive client base includes approximately 7,000 healthcare facilities including leading for-profit and not-for-profit hospitals, leading teaching hospitals and regional healthcare providers. Medical Staffing does not receive a material portion of its revenues from Medicare or Medicaid reimbursements or similar state reimbursement programs.

The temporary nurse staffing market has three major components: per diem staffing, travel staffing, and a hybrid allied health staffing. Per diem staffing is the largest sector of the temporary healthcare staffing industry, providing healthcare professionals for assignments of a single shift to two weeks, and is used to meet local labor shortages and openings due to holidays, vacations, illness and staff turnover, as well as daily and seasonal fluctuations in hospital volume. In the travel staffing market, healthcare facilities hire travel nurses on a contracted, fixed-term basis to meet seasonal or other volume-driven fluctuations in hospital admissions levels for time periods ranging from several weeks to one year, but are typically thirteen weeks long. Allied health staffing consists of highly specialized radiology and diagnostic imaging specialists, clinical laboratory specialists, rehabilitation specialists, pharmacists, respiratory therapists and other similar healthcare vocations. These professionals are staffed on both a per diem and travel basis.

For the year ended December 2008, Medical Staffing reported revenues of $538 million and a loss from operations of $114.0 million, which included non-cash write-downs relating to the impairment of goodwill and intangible assets of $130.9 million. During fiscal 2008, cash flow from operations was $31.7 million. During the year ended December 28, 2008, 68% of revenues came from its per diem nurse staffing assignments, 18% came from its travel nurse staffing assignments and 14% came from its allied health staffing assignments.

For the three months ended June 2009, revenues decreased $55.4 million, or 38.7%, to $87.6 million as compared to $143.0 million for the comparable prior year period. The decrease was primarily due to a lower number of hours worked by professionals due to weak, and in some cases, declining hospital admissions, which resulted in decreased demand. Although Medical Staffing reported a net loss for the quarter of $1.081 million, it was cash flow positive by $792,000 (add back $1.63 million of depreciation and amortization and $243,000 for non-cash impairment of goodwill). During the first six months of 2009, the Company closed/merged four per diem branches, implemented various cost containment initiatives and eliminated 150 branch, corporate and operations personnel, resulting in a charge of $0.9 million related to severance and lease terminations.

The temporary healthcare staffing industry has been severely impacted by the weak economy. As hospitals experience lower than projected admissions levels, they are placing greater reliance on existing full-time staff, resulting in increased overtime and nurse-patient loads. Despite the downturn, the Company remains confident in the long-term growth potential of the temporary staffing industry.

In a March 2004 report, the U.S. Census Bureau projected that the number of Americans 65 years of age or older is expected to grow from 35.1 million in 2000 to 54.6 million in 2020. Among the trends noted in a March 2006 U.S. Census Bureau report, the U.S. population age 65 and over, which is now the fastest growing segment of the U.S. population, is expected to double in size within the next 25 years and by 2030, almost 1 out of every 5 Americans (some 72 million people) will be 65 years or older. In a November 2007 report, the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics stated that more than one million nurses will be needed by 2020, making nursing the nation’s top profession in terms of projected job growth.

Additionally, there is pressure to restrict mandatory healthcare worker overtime requirements by employers and to establish regulated nurse-patient ratios. Several states have enacted legislation establishing nurse to patient ratios and/or prohibiting mandatory overtime while other states have similar legislation pending. In conjunction with the aforementioned factors, the long-term prospects for the healthcare staffing industry should improve as hospitals experience higher census levels, due in large part to an aging society and an increasing shortage of healthcare workers.

The Company is unique because of the flexibility of its service offerings, which allows its clients to manage their profitability by giving them a high degree of control in managing their labor costs without sacrificing clinical expertise. Also, by using an integrated network of branches, a centralized travel staffing and allied health offices, the Company has attained certain economies of scale typically unavailable to a smaller company. The cost structure of a typical per diem branch is primarily fixed, consisting of limited personnel, office space rent, information systems infrastructure and supplies. Medical Staffing management believes that it has been able to develop a highly efficient branch management model that is scalable to meet increasing demand.

With respect to competition, the per diem market includes many local operators and is highly fragmented. According to public filings, the Company's management team believes that larger, nationally established firms enjoy distinct competitive advantages over smaller, local and regional competitors in the temporary healthcare staffing industry because these larger firms have a critical mass of available nursing candidates, substantial word-of-mouth referral networks and established brand names, enabling them to attract a consistent flow of new applicants.

With respect to regulation, the healthcare industry is subject to extensive and complex federal and state laws and regulations relating to professional licensure, conduct of operations, payment for services and payment for referrals. However, Medical Staffing is not directly impacted by or subject to the laws and regulations that generally govern the healthcare industry, because it provides services on a contract basis and are paid directly by its hospital and other healthcare facility clients.

In September 2009, the Company announced that it had adopted a stockholder rights plan designed to deter coercive takeover tactics, including the accumulation of shares in the open market or through private transactions and to prevent an acquirer from gaining control without offering a fair price to all of the Company's stockholders. Management explicitly stated that the plan was not adopted in response to any current hostile takeover attempt. According to Robert J. Adamson, the Company's Chairman and CEO, "The plan will not prevent a takeover attempt, but will encourage anyone seeking to acquire the Company to negotiate the fair value directly with the Board of Directors."

At present, shares of MSNW are trading at a diminutive

0.03x times sales. On an Enterprise Value to EBITDA ratio, it is trading at 5.33x, as compared to comparables AMN Healthcare Services Inc. (AHS) of 5.72x, Cross Country Healthcare Inc. (CCRN) of 8.20x, and On Assignment Inc. (ASGN) of 6.40x. The Company has reported operating cash flow of approximately $32 million over the last twelve months, with leveraged free cash flow exceeding $25 million over the same period. We believe that it is reasonable to expect that Medical Staffing will be a beneficiary of an improving economy and the aging Baby Boomer population. At current valuation, we believe that MSNW represents an attractive vehicle for the speculative investor to gain exposure to the surging healthcare industry.

WSR's Aggressive Growth and Speculator Focus Lists

Companies included in the WSR-Aggressive Growth list are primarily companies based outside of our home state of Florida and are generally trading at a significant discount to their peers, breaking out of long-term bases or have recently announced a significant event. To qualify for inclusion, companies in the WSR-Florida Small Cap 30 must have a market capitalization less than $500 million and must have met a certain number of valuation and performance based hurdles including but not limited to revenue growth, PEG ratio, tangible book value, and profitability.

Companies included in WSR-Speculator are typically early stage or turnaround companies which are frequently WSR clients and (in our opinion) have the potential for a three hundred percent return over the next three to five years. Changes to these lists are emailed to WSR's subscribers via its Daily Notes publication and are updated each month in The Emerging Growth News.

SEPTEMBER'S TOP COMPANIES UNDER $5.00 AS MEASURED BY INSIDER BUYING:

Investors and analysts look to the buying and selling trends of insiders, who are typically long-term investors, for clues to the broader market outlook. According to Ben Silverman, InsiderScore.com's director of research, "Insiders have been very accurate in terms of calling market bottoms, both temporary, in terms of corrections, and troughs."

Although insider buying is a useful tool to consider when making a decision on which stock to buy, it should be looked at carefully lest it give a false positive signal. Investors need to look behind the headlines and conduct their own research before buying on this basis. For example, option exercises can also give false signals.

This section summarizes the companies (trading under $5.00 per share) with the greatest amount of purchasing by insiders during the month of August 2009.

The chart on the left illustrates the 4 and 13 week trailing average "Net Buying" in relationship to the entire market. In other words, what percent of the stocks in the entire market have net insider buying. In theory, the higher the percent the greater the indication that the overall market will increase in price.

SEPTEMBER'S COMPANY OF INTEREST:

WSR's "Companies of Interest" section of its Daily Notes publication provides emerging growth company investors with fresh ideas. While we have only briefly reviewed these companies, something caught our attention and in our opinion the company warrants further inspection. Some of our biggest gainers have gone up over 1,000% in less than 12-months.

Unfortunately, there were not any new companies of interest identified by our system during the month of September.

Webdigs, Inc.OTCBB:WBDG

Webdigs, Inc. has developed a state-of-the-art, web-based, transaction platform that is revolutionizing the real estate industry. The robust system integrates the efficiency of the Internet with the hands on relationship of a full service real estate broker. By fully automating the steps in the buying process that don't require the skills of an experienced broker, Webdigs has enabled home buyers and sellers to save on transaction fees, while helping real estate brokerage service providers use their time more efficiently so they can close more transactions. We feel the downturn in the real estate market has set the stage for a transition to a better way to manage real estate transaction much the same as the down turn in the stock market in the early 2000s opened the door to Internet base brokerage firms such as Etrade.

Past performance does not guarantee future success, and an investment in the model theoretical portfolio might lose money. Dividends and commissions are not included in performance calculations. The model theoretical performance includes performance history of the model micro-capital portfolio. The theoretical performance contains many high-risk speculative stocks, which tend to be more volatile and more illiquid than larger more established companies. The theoretical performance of the model does not represent actual trading and does not reflect material economic, psychological and market factors that might have impacted the results if actual money had been invested.

While no companies pay a fee to be included in our micro-capital portfolio or newsletter, certain companies, which are published as featured companies on our website, pay a due diligence fee for participation in the Wall Street Resources' financial publication and distribution program. In compliance with Section 17(b) of the Securities Act of 1933, detailed information regarding compensation from such companies is included on the last page of such reports, is explained in the disclaimer located at <http://wallstreetresources.net/disclaimer.html>, and is listed below. Tax consequences must be carefully considered. Wall Street Resources, Inc. is a financial publisher and not a broker/dealer or registered investment advisor, and thus all trades and actual trading, decisions are made solely by the individual investor, not by Wall Street Resources, Inc. Wall Street Resources, Inc. and/or the employees of Wall Street Resources, Inc. will not be held responsible for any losses that might occur from the use of the information provided in our financial publications that might be acted upon by an investor.
