WSR Portfolio Review for Year End 2010 and First Quarter 2011

By Paul Silver

This month, we will review the performance of our three proprietary WSR-managed portfolios as of the year-end 2010 and as of the first quarter 2011. In all three portfolios, despite a less than stellar showing from the U.S. venture capital world (as measured by the U.S. Venture Capital Index Returns), which is often considered a proxy for small cap stocks, our portfolios demonstrated exceptional performance.

As of December 31, 2010, the open positions in our Florida Small Cap 30 portfolio reported an average gain of 70%, with an average annualized return of 38.25%. The best active performer in the portfolio was Cryo-Cell International, Inc. (OTCBB: CCEL), with a gain of 281% and an annualized return of 156%. In second and third place, Metropolitan Health Networks (AMEX: MDF) and Parlux Fragrances (NASDAQ: PARL) helped boost our performance with annualized returns of 126% and 121% respectively.

With respect to closed positions, we reported average gains of 72% and an average annualized return of 170%. The top closed position performance came from Woodbridge Holdings, Corp (acquired by BFC Financial Corp in September 2009), which provided a 1,328% annualized return. Both our open and closed position performance compare favorably to the broad market returns of the Dow Jones Industrial Average, the S&P 500, and the NASDAQ, that reported annualized returns of 34%, 37%, and 48% over the same time period.

This outperformance was not limited to our flagship Florida Top 30 portfolio. As of December 31, 2010, the open positions in our Aggressive Growth reported an average gain of 107% with an average annualized return of 75%. The top performer in this group was Northern Oil and Gas (AMEX: NOG), with a gain of 908% and an annualized return of 504%. Our closed positions within the portfolio posted an average gain of 168% and an average annualized return of 198%, with three of the four closed positions posting annualized returns exceeding 200% each.

Finally, as of December 31st, 2010, the open positions in our Speculator portfolio reported average gains of 136% and average annualized returns of 205%, led by SmartMetric, Inc. (OTCQB: SMME) with a 900% gain, representing a 1,805% annualized return. The closed positions in the portfolio reported a 46% average gain with a 38% average annualized loss. Despite strong performance from many of our components, the average was negatively impacted by Dynamic Response Group, Inc., down 76%, which translated into an annualized loss of 1,074% due to its short duration within the portfolio. Excluding this outlier, our closed position performance would have been positive.

Performance as of the end of the first quarter 2011

As of March 31st, 2011, open positions within our Florida Small Cap 30 portfolio are showing average gains of 94% with an average annualized return of 46%, representing a significant improvement from the year-end percentage gains. The top three performers on an annualized basis as of quarter-end were Cryo-Cell International (+145%), Metropolitan Health Networks (+120%), and Continucare Corporation (NYSE: CNU) (+98%). With respect to closed positions, the portfolio reported average gains of 70% and average annualized returns of 148%, slightly below year-end results but still far superior to the broad market annualized returns of the Dow Jones Industrial Average (+35%), the S&P 500 (+37%), and the NASDAQ (+46%).

Our open positions in the Aggressive Growth Portfolio showed average gains of 117% and average annualized returns of 61%. These percent gains were negatively impacted by a 74% price decline from China Integrated Energy (NASDAQ: CBEH) one of our portfolio companies being the target of negative press published by an anonymous writer with a short position in the stock*. The closed positions in this portfolio provided gains of 141% and average annualized returns of 162%, both slightly below year-end figures.

Finally, as of quarter-end, our open positions in the Speculator Portfolio showed average gains of 129% and average annualized returns of 59%. The closed positions in the Speculator Portfolio provided average gains of 37% and average annualized returns of -45%. Once again, the quadruple digit percentage loss (on an annualized basis) from the Dynamic Response Group, Inc. closed position pushed our average annualized returns into negative territory.

In summary, our performance as of the year-end 2010 and continuing through first quarter 2011 has consistently and significantly outperformed major market indices. We continue to search for and identify undervalued, high growth small cap stocks in Florida and across the United States. The good news is that although the broad market indices are nearing near-term highs and the market looks a little rich, we are consistently finding that there are still plenty of opportunities to find value in the small cap sector. We believe that 2011 will be a strong year as we add more emerging growth companies to our universe and take profits when our current stocks reach more full valuations.

*On March 16th, an anonymous writer using the pseudonym Sinclair Upton Research issued a research report that contained serious allegations of malfeasance and fraud against China Integrated Energy Inc. On March 23rd, China Integrated Energy, Inc. released a detailed letter to shareholders from its CEO, Mr. Gao Xincheng, commenting on the negative post and providing additional information and background on the Company's business and accounting practices in a point-by-point response to the assertions made by the author. On March 28th, China Integrated Energy announced that it had launched an independent third party investigation.

On April 5, the author of the Sinclair Upton Research report issued another release in which he claims to have video evidence that proves that the Company has no meaningful biodiesel production, despite management's repeated public claims that their plants are running at 100% of capacity. This, in his opinion, would prove that management fabricated $22 million of gross profit from biodiesel sales in 2010 and grossly exaggerated wholesale and retail division profits, leading to the conclusion that CBEH's historical financials clearly can no longer be relied upon. Since the beginning of these allegations, there have been no less than five class actions suits filed against the Company and many more have launched investigations into possible securities law violations. We will see how these allegations play out over the next several weeks and possibly months.

THE WSR GROUP

Florida Small Cap 30

The Florida Small Cap 30 highlights what we believe are the top 30 publicly traded investment opportunities in Florida with a market capitalization less than $500 million on a risk/reward basis. While we limit the number of positions to 30, the portfolio may temporarily contain less than 30 positions as the result of removing positions. To qualify for inclusion, companies in the WSR-Florida Small Cap 30 must have a market capitalization less than $500 million as well as met a certain number of valuation and performance based hurdles including, but not limited to, revenue growth, PEG ratio, tangible book value, and profitability. Changes to the Florida Small Cap 30 list will be emailed to WSR's subscribers via its Daily Notes publication and are updated each month in The Emerging Growth News.

WSR's Aggressive Growth and Speculator Focus Lists

Companies included in the WSR-Aggressive Growth list are primarily companies based outside of our home state of Florida and are generally trading at a significant discount to their peers, breaking out of long-term bases or have recently announced a significant event. To qualify for inclusion, companies in the WSR-Aggressive Growth portfolio must have a market capitalization less than $500 million and must have met a certain number of valuation and performance based hurdles including but not limited to revenue growth, PEG ratio, tangible book value, and profitability.

Companies included in WSR-Speculator portfolio are typically early stage or turnaround companies which are frequently WSR clients and (in our opinion) have the potential for a three hundred percent return over the next three to five years. Changes to these lists are emailed to WSR's subscribers via its Daily Notes publication and are updated each month in The Emerging Growth News.

MARCH'S TOP COMPANIES UNDER $5.00 AS MEASURED BY INSIDER BUYING:

Investors and analysts look to the buying and selling trends of insiders, who are typically long-term investors, for clues to the broader market outlook. According to Ben Silverman, InsiderScore.com's director of research, "Insiders have been very accurate in terms of calling market bottoms, both temporary, in terms of corrections, and troughs."

Although insider buying is a useful tool to consider when making a decision on which stock to buy, it should be looked at carefully lest it give a false positive signal. Investors need to look behind the headlines and conduct their own research before buying on this basis. For example, option exercises can also give false signals. This section summarizes the companies (trading under $5.00 per share) with the greatest amount of purchasing by insiders during the previous month.

Companies with Net Buying Percentage

The chart on the left illustrates the 4 and 13 week trailing average "Net Buying" in relationship to the entire market. In other words, what percent of the stocks in the entire market have net insider buying. In theory, the higher the percent the greater the indication that the overall market will increase in price.
