SEI Announces Strategic Partnership with the Association of Governing Boards of Universities and Colleges

Relationship Highlights Leading OCIO's Continued Dedication to Higher Education Marketplace

OAKS, Pa., Oct. 29, 2018 /PRNewswire/ -- SEI (NASDAQ: SEIC), a leading provider of outsourced chief investment officer (OCIO) services, today announced its strategic partnership with the Association of Governing Boards of Universities and Colleges (AGB), an organization centered on governance in higher education. AGB's membership boasts 1,300 boards, representing 1,900 colleges, universities and institutionally-related foundations.

As a Sustaining Sponsor of AGB, SEI gains a new discussion forum with board members of colleges and universities, as well as the opportunity to share thought leadership and expertise on important higher education issues, specifically surrounding endowment investment management.

"SEI is proud to be a strategic partner with AGB, and we look forward to growing our understanding of the issues decision-makers face in achieving their missions in this market," said Frank Wilkinson, Managing Director of North American Institutional Marketing at SEI. "We are committed to better understanding these challenges and providing investment solutions tailored to the unique needs of college and university endowments."

For more than 25 years, SEI has provided an OCIO solution for nonprofit institutions. The company currently works with 184 nonprofit clients, representing $27.3 billion in assets.* Of the 184 nonprofit clients, nearly 40 are colleges and universities. SEI's OCIO model and advisory solution for colleges and universities delivers an integrated and holistic approach for designing and implementing asset allocation strategies that best meet the organizational goals of the institution.
