Brad Frank Joins Korn Ferry as Senior Client Partner

LOS ANGELES--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Korn Ferry (NYSE: KFY) today announced that Brad Frank has joined the firm as a senior client partner in the global Technology practice. He is based in the firm's Philadelphia office.

Frank joins Korn Ferry from a global executive search firm where he was a partner and member of the Executive Committee. He brings 20 years of hands-on operating experience to retained executive search. Over the last 13 plus years, Frank has placed a variety of executives, including CEOs, boards of directors, as well as senior leaders in functional roles including product, engineering, marketing, sales, and human resources. He has served a diverse group of clients across the technology sector including consumer, e-commerce, SaaS, tech-enabled services, security, networking, and semiconductors.

Before that, Frank was an executive in global sales management, business development, and strategic global account management with both Solectron, an electronics manufacturing company, and Trend Technologies, a global mechanical manufacturer.

"Brad brings a diverse set of experiences working across the technology sector. His deep knowledge and expertise will be valuable to our clients, and we are thrilled to have him on board," said Tarun Inuganti, North America Technology practice leader, Korn Ferry.

Frank has an MBA from Stanford Graduate School of Business and a Bachelor of Arts from Wesleyan University.
