When declaring dividends, the Main Street Board of Directors reviews estimates of taxable income available for distribution, which differs from consolidated book income due to (i) changes in unrealized appreciation and depreciation, (ii) temporary and permanent differences in income and expense recognition, (iii) activity at our taxable subsidiaries, and (iv) the amount of undistributed taxable income (or "spillover income") carried over from a given year for distribution in the following year. The final determination of 2011 taxable income, as well as the tax attributes for 2011 dividends, will be made after the close of the 2011 tax year. The final tax attributes for 2011 dividends will generally include both ordinary taxable income and capital gains but may also include qualified dividends and return of capital.

Main Street maintains a dividend reinvestment plan ("DRIP") that provides for the reinvestment of dividends on behalf of its stockholders, unless a stockholder has elected to receive dividends in cash. As a result, if Main Street declares a dividend, our stockholders who have not "opted out" of the DRIP by the dividend record date will have their dividend automatically reinvested into additional shares of our common stock. Main Street has the option to satisfy the share requirements of the DRIP through the issuance of new shares of common stock or through open market purchases of common stock by the DRIP plan administrator. Newly-issued shares will be valued based upon the final closing price of Main Street's common stock on a specified valuation date for each dividend as determined by Main Street's Board of Directors. Shares purchased in the open market to satisfy the DRIP requirements will be valued based upon the average price of the applicable shares purchased by the DRIP plan administrator, before any associated brokerage or other costs.

As previously announced, Main Street will release fourth quarter and full year 2010 financial results on Thursday, March 10, 2011, after the financial markets close. In conjunction with the fourth quarter and full year 2010 earnings release, Main Street has scheduled a conference call for Friday, March 11, 2011 at 10:00 a.m. Eastern Time.
