The event brings together some of industry's most pre-eminent experts to discuss both the challenges as well as the opportunities surrounding the growing use of digital identities in the Internet-connected world. It features speakers from Gartner, Forrester, Salesforce.com, Verizon and Telus. Diamond sponsors include international identity solutions advisor Everett and management consulting firm Smart421, part of the KCOM Group.

Keynote speakers include:

- Gregg Kreizman, Gartner's research vice president of security and privacy
- Jennifer Belissent PH.D, Forrester's principal analyst serving CIOs

Additional speakers include:

- Ian Glazer of Salesforce.com: "Killing IAM in Order to Save It"
- Jean-Marc Meslin, Verizon Enterprise Solutions: 'Business Cases and Identity Relationship Management'
- Andrew Johnston, principal technology architect at Telus: 'I AM NOT MY PHONE: Avoiding Identity Relationship Pitfalls'
- Don Thibeau, executive director, The OpenID Foundation
- Kantara Initiative's Joni Brennan will be presenting the workshop: "Trusted ID Exchange (TIDX) - The age of IRM Agility is here!"

The IRM Summit also offers customer presentations, demos and workshops to help attendees learn about the evolution of IAM (Identity Access Management) into IRM, as well as how to drive customer relationships, increase business agility and grow revenue through the power of connecting customers, partners and employees to a single security platform anytime, anywhere, across any device. The Summit will also provide attendees the chance to meet with engineers, product managers, architects, industry leaders, and partners implementing IRM.

Mike Ellis, CEO of ForgeRock, said: "Identity touches absolutely everything online. Whether it's web applications, customer portals, SaaS applications, mobile applications, automobiles, set-top boxes, or wearable devices, the common thread across all of these offerings is identity. This Summit is designed to help senior business technology decision-makers take the steps they need for their business or organisation to operate safely and competitively in the new world order."
