Kush Bottles to Move Headquarters, Quadruple California Operating Space to Accommodate Continued Growth

New facility will allow cannabis packaging company to provide a wider array of products, better service, and quicker delivery times to Los Angeles and most key areas of the state

SANTA ANA, Calif., March 23, 2017 /PRNewswire/ -- Kush Bottles, Inc. (OTCQB: KSHB), a provider of packaging, supplies, accessories and branding solutions for the regulated cannabis industry, announced that on July 1, 2017, it will move its corporate headquarters and California fulfillment center to a larger, more centrally located facility in Garden Grove, CA. The new building features greater warehouse space to allow for increased inventory, as well as additional floor space to support new services for the company's growing customer base.

A recent report from the World Bank stated that California just surpassed the nation of France to become the world's sixth largest economy, only outpaced by the US (as a whole), China, Japan, Germany, and the UK.

According to an article in Business Insider, the size of the cannabis market in California could reach $4.27 billion in 2018, and could grow to $6.45 billion by 2020.

Bolstering this projected growth are two recent voter-approved initiatives: Proposition 64, the "Adult Use of Marijuana Act" legalized the purchase of cannabis for adults 21 and older in California; and Measure M, which was recently passed in Los Angeles and will allow the nation's second largest city to repeal a current ban on medical marijuana dispensaries. The measure also allows the city council to create new rules in order to facilitate a safe and well-regulated legal cannabis industry.

"Kush Bottles thrives in regulated cannabis markets, where strict rules require the use of certified, child resistant packaging," said Nick Kovacevich, CEO of Kush Bottles, Inc. "We are excited about the passage of Measure M, which will allow newly established and existing medical marijuana facilities to legally operate in Los Angeles under new rules to create a safe and well-regulated market."

"Our client base is growing at a rapid pace and we are continuing to invest in our infrastructure to meet burgeoning demand," said Ben Wu, President and COO of Kush Bottles, Inc. "Moving to a larger facility will enable us to further diversify our product and service offerings and to strengthen our position as the gold standard for the cannabis industry."
