"Today's Fabergé looks to the ingenuity of my great-grandfather, Peter Carl Fabergé and his constant pursuit of excellence," said Sarah Fabergé, Director of Special Projects and Founding Member of the Fabergé Heritage Council. "I am honored to be Godmother to this extraordinary new ship which, like Fabergé, has been inspired by the past and reimagined for the future, and I also look forward to hosting Regent guests onboard Seven Seas Grandeur for my exclusive Spotlight Voyage in 2024".

Great-granddaughter of Peter Carl Fabergé - the legendary artist-jeweler and creative and entrepreneurial genius behind the world-renowned company that bore his name - Sarah is member of the Fabergé Heritage Council which helps to support the Fabergé Management

Team in its pursuit of excellence and exclusivity and provides guidance on Peter Carl Fabergé and his legacy.

As part of Regent's partnership with Fabergé, Sarah will wear bespoke earrings and a ring specifically designed for the upcoming Christening event. These exquisite pieces, made of 18k white gold and featuring blue guilloché enamel, white diamonds and pearls, will not only grace Sarah as an ensemble during this elegant event but will also be auctioned to raise money for charity in 2024. The proceeds from this auction will be donated to the Gemfields Foundation, the charitable arm of Gemfields which is the parent company of Fabergé. The foundation is dedicated to undertaking various activations designed to address poverty alleviation in communities and wildlife conservation in sub-Saharan Africa. Notably, the charity's impactful projects span countries which Regent visits, such as Madagascar and Mozambique.

Sarah's appointment as Godmother to Seven Seas Grandeur comes in celebration of Regent Seven Seas Cruises' partnership with Fabergé. As part of the collaboration, Regent previously announced the commission of a one-of-a-kind, meticulously hand-crafted objet d'art known as Journey in Jewels. This exquisite Fabergé egg will hold the distinction of being the first-ever permanent resident of its kind on the open seas, proudly serving as the crowning jewel within the ship's awe-inspiring multi-million-dollar art collection.
