Ingram Micro House Brand Expands Upon Successful Keyboard/Mouse Category

SANTA ANA, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- V7, the exclusive house brand for Ingram Micro Inc. (NYSE: IM) and provider of premier computer accessories worldwide, today announced the availability of its 2.4GHZ Wireless Mouse with Nano Receiver and its Wireless Presenter with Built-In Laser Pointer.

The V7 2.4GHZ Wireless Mouse with Nano Receiver reduces clutter on a work desk in the office, on the road or at home. When traveling, the plug-n-play nano receiver can be stored in the mouse compartment or left in the computer's USB slot due to its low profile. With a slim, lightweight form factor for easy handling, the V7 Wireless Presenter with Built-In Laser Pointer is designed to help users give trouble-free, professional presentations. The presenter offers full-featured wireless mouse functionality for familiar control and precise manipulation of a presentation. The USB receiver works instantly with any Windows operating system without the need to install additional software and stores inside the device. The MSRP is $39.95.

"The V7 wireless mouse and wireless presenter offer portability and convenience for customers at a great value," said Rainer Kozlik, vice president and general manager of Ingram Micro's Global V7 Private Label Group.
