Christopher Dominello, the company's Chief Executive Officer commented, "This transaction positions CCA to accelerate the growth of our brands, with Plus White as a primary focus, within our portfolio. Over the past few years, we've made significant progress in streamlining operations, including relocating our third-party warehouse to Kansas City, which has reduced both warehousing and freight costs. While these improvements have strengthened our foundation, past losses had left us with a debt burden that limited our ability to invest in growth."

Dominello continued, "With this strategic realignment, CCA now has the financial flexibility to prioritize initiatives that drive topline growth across our portfolio. Allowing us to invest strategically in advertising and to deliver innovative products to our customers. We are excited to embark on this new chapter, with a primary focus on expanding Plus White while also driving growth and value across all our brands."
