³⁾ Maintenance capital expenditures represent the portion of our estimated capital expenditures associated with (i) the connection of new wells to our gathering and processing systems that we believe will be necessary to offset the natural production declines Antero Resources will experience on all of its wells over time, and (ii) water delivery to new wells necessary to maintain the average throughput volume on our systems.

of its rich gas Marcellus compressor stations by 80 MMcf/d. Including the 440 MMcf/d of additions during the first quarter of 2018, Antero Midstream has expanded its compression capacity by 520 MMcf/d year-to-date. Antero Midstream's total compression capacity at the end of the second quarter of 2018 was over 2.2 Bcf/d in the Marcellus and Utica combined. Additionally, Antero Midstream connected 30 wells to its gathering system during the quarter. Antero Resources is currently operating five drilling rigs on Antero Midstream dedicated acreage.

The Joint Venture with MPLX continued construction on the Sherwood 10 and 11 Processing Plants, which are expected to be placed online by the end of the third quarter and fourth quarter of 2018, respectively. In addition, the Joint Venture commenced civil construction on its new processing site, "Smithburg", during the second quarter of 2018. The Smithburg Processing Site will initially have a footprint capable of supporting 1.2 Bcf/d of cryogenic processing facilities, or six 200 MMcf/d plants. Importantly, the Smithburg processing site is strategically located two miles west of the Sherwood Processing Facility and will connect to major long-haul pipelines and NGL infrastructure.

Water Handling and Treatment— Antero Midstream's Marcellus and Utica fresh water delivery systems serviced 48 well completions during the second quarter of 2018, a 29% increase from the prior year quarter. Antero Resources operated six completion crews on Antero Midstream dedicated acreage in the second quarter of 2018 but expects to reduce its completion crews to four in the second half of 2018.

During the second quarter of 2018, Antero Midstream placed in service the Antero Clearwater Facility, which is the largest advanced wastewater treatment facility for shale oil and gas operations in the world. The Antero Clearwater Facility was temporarily taken offline in June for maintenance and to install additional pretreatment facilities to improve operations. The facility was placed back into commercial service at the end of July.

For a reconciliation of consolidated net debt to consolidated total debt, the most comparable GAAP measure, please read "Non-GAAP Financial Measures."

Importantly, Antero Midstream has delivered this peer-leading growth while maintaining a DCF coverage ratio well in excess of its initial coverage ratio targets in every quarter, demonstrating the consistency of Antero's development plan and integrated midstream strategy. Additionally, Antero Midstream continues to maintain a strong balance sheet with leverage at 2.3x as of June 30, 2018."

Non-GAAP Financial Measures and Definitions

Antero Midstream uses Adjusted EBITDA as an important indicator of the Partnership's performance. Antero Midstream defines Adjusted EBITDA as net income before interest expense, impairment expense, gain on sale of assets, depreciation expense, accretion, equity-based compensation expense, excluding equity in earnings of unconsolidated affiliates and including cash distributions from unconsolidated affiliates.

Antero Midstream uses Adjusted EBITDA to assess:

- the financial performance of the Partnership's assets, without regard to financing methods, capital structure or historical cost basis;
- its operating performance and return on capital as compared to other publicly traded partnerships in the midstream energy sector, without regard to financing or capital structure; and
- the viability of acquisitions and other capital expenditure projects.

The Partnership defines Distributable Cash Flow as Adjusted EBITDA less interest paid, income tax withholding payments and cash reserved for payments of income tax withholding upon vesting of equity-based compensation awards, cash reserved for bond interest and ongoing maintenance capital expenditures paid. Antero Midstream uses Distributable Cash Flow as a performance metric to compare the cash generating performance of the Partnership from period to period and to compare the cash generating performance for specific periods to the cash distributions (if any) that are expected to be paid to unitholders. Distributable Cash Flow does not reflect changes in working capital balances.

Adjusted EBITDA and Distributable Cash Flow are non-GAAP financial measures. The GAAP measure most directly comparable to Adjusted EBITDA and Distributable Cash Flow is Net Income. The non-GAAP financial measures of Adjusted EBITDA and Distributable Cash Flow should not be considered as alternatives to the GAAP measure of Net Income. Adjusted EBITDA and Distributable Cash Flow are not presentations made in accordance with GAAP and have important limitations as an analytical tool because they include some, but not all, items that affect Net Income and Adjusted EBITDA. You should not consider Adjusted EBITDA and Distributable Cash Flow in isolation or as a substitute for analyses of results as reported under GAAP. Antero Midstream's definition of Adjusted EBITDA and Distributable Cash Flow may not be comparable to similarly titled measures of other partnerships.

"Segment Adjusted EBITDA" is also used by our management team for various purposes, including as a measure of operating performance and as a basis for strategic planning and forecasting. Segment Adjusted EBITDA is a non-GAAP financial measure that we define as operating income before equity-based compensation expense, interest expense, depreciation expense, gain on sale of assets, impairment expense, accretion, excluding equity in earnings of unconsolidated affiliates, and including cash distributions from unconsolidated affiliates. Operating income is the most directly comparable GAAP financial measure to Segment Adjusted EBITDA because we do not account for interest expense on a segment basis.

The Partnership defines consolidated net debt as consolidated total debt less cash and cash equivalents. Antero Midstream views consolidated net debt as an important indicator in evaluating the Partnership's financial leverage.

The following table reconciles consolidated total debt to consolidated net debt ("Net Debt") as used in this release (in thousands):
