The podcast will be hosted by Owen

Strachan, provost and research professor of Theology at Grace Bible Theological Seminary. Strachan is the author of twenty books, including his latest The War on Men: Why Society Hates Them and Why We Need Them, which has just been released by Salem Books. Each week, three episodes of “Grace and Truth” will be released.

“Salem Podcast Network continues to add multi-talented podcasters who share our worldview,” said Salem Senior Vice President of Spoken Word, Phil Boyce. “Owen is an amazing voice for what is true and right in America, and adding him to our platform is a home run. I can’t wait to become a regular listener when he gets started.”

“I am very excited to join the Salem team,” said Owen Strachan. “Though I am nothing in myself, I have the utmost trust and confidence in God, and I believe that bold Christian witness is the order of the day. Christians need to be equipped to think, to know Scripture, to engage culture, and to speak the truth in love. My prayer is that Grace and Truth will accomplish these ends — and will help God’s people be like Jesus and bring ‘grace and truth’ to our fallen and chaotic world.”

Strachan is a senior fellow with the Family Research Council. He previously served as associate professor of Christian Theology and Director of the Residency Ph.D Program at Midwestern Baptist Theological Seminary (MBTS). He earned a Ph.D. in theology from Trinity Evangelical Divinity School, his M.Div from The Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, and his AB from Bowdoin College in Brunswick, Maine. Strachan is the former president of the Council on Biblical Manhood & Womanhood and the former director of The Center for Public Theology at MBTS. He lives with his family in Conway, Arkansas.

The Salem Podcast network launched in January 2021 and is ranked as the 11th most listened to podcast network on the Triton Digital platform, with 17 million average downloads per month.
