

May 12, 2016

Murthy Renduchintala: Winning in a Truly Connected World

From 5G networks to the explosion of the Internet of "things," we are at the threshold of the next revolution in technology as we transition to a truly connected world. Not since the transition from analog to digital have we seen such a transformation of this scale. View article by Dr. Venkata "Murthy" Renduchintala, president of Intel's Client and Internet of Things (IoT) Businesses and Systems Architecture Group.