(“Yijingtong”), a Chinese distributor of minimally invasive surgical (MIS) products to the orthopedic and neurosurgical markets. Michael Chermak, OZOP’s Chief Executive Officer, commented on the acquisition, “this is an exciting development. We have a long working history and familiarity with this company and the management team. Yijingtong possesses CFDA business licenses, for class 1, 2 and 3 products, which allows it to sell virtually any medical device in China including orthopedic implants. Yijingtong provides us a proven, established platform with local Chinese infrastructure and know-how which we expect to greatly speed up the introduction and sale of our products facilitating our access to the China market, where the penetration of MIS in spine surgery is far greater than the US.
