Veterans Guide, Mentor eCommerce Entrepreneurs through Business-Enhancing Project

Inaugural Class of 2012 Convenes at Silicon Valley Summit

ENGLEWOOD, Colo.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Liberty Media Corporation ("Liberty") (Nasdaq: LCAPA, LCAPB, LINTA, LINTB, LSTZA, LSTZB) today announced the founding of the Women's eCommerce Network (W^eCN), a unique program that pairs ten established business leaders (the Council) with five early stage eCommerce companies (the Class) for a six month mentorship period. The program commences with a Summit in Silicon Valley, where each Class member is paired with two Council members who will support and mentor her on a targeted, business-enhancing project. The six month mentorship period will culminate in a graduation ceremony, hosted by QVC, in April. Additional executives from Liberty Media and QVC, including Andrea Wong, Liberty Board Member and former CEO, Lifetime Networks, and Claire Watts, CEO, QVC US will participate in the program.

The W^eCN provides exposure to best practices and emerging trends, as well as networking opportunities with the broader Council through the Summit and the creation of an Alumni network. Liberty Media's intent is to institutionalize the program moving forward.

Andrea Wong commented, "We at Liberty came to recognize through prior events that there was significant interest among women entrepreneurs for a structured forum that would afford them access to feedback, critiques, motivation, and mentorship from women entrepreneurs who have been there, done that and learned along the way. Through W^eCN we are opening an uncensored dialogue with the mission of helping to build promising, young eCommerce companies into vibrant established eCommerce companies. I happen to believe in the power that comes in connecting women in meaningful ways and speak for Liberty when I say the company is pleased and proud to have founded this group."

The first-ever W^eCN Summit will take place on September 21, 2011 in Silicon Valley. The agenda for the day includes discussions on building a quality leadership team, taking companies to scale and social strategies for engaging customers.
