

May 15, 2012

Photo of Intel International Science and Engineering Fair Competitors Available on Business Wire's Website and AP PhotoExpress

PITTSBURGH--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- A photo is available on Business Wire's Website and AP PhotoExpress of a group of competitors at the Intel International Science and Engineering Fair.

Last night, the world's largest high school science research competition, the Intel International Science and Engineering Fair, a program of Society for Science & the Public, kicked off with a celebration of the 70 countries represented by the more than 1,500 9th-12th graders who are competing this week for more than $3 million in awards. (Photo: Business Wire)

Last night, the world's largest high school science research competition, the Intel International Science and Engineering Fair, a program of Society for Science & the Public, kicked off with a celebration of the 70 countries represented by the more than 1,500 9th – 12th graders who are competing this week for more than $3 million in awards.

Photos/Multimedia Gallery Available: <http://www.businesswire.com/cgi-bin/mmg.cgi?eid=50278536&lang=en>

North of Nine Communications, for Intel Allison Kubota, 646-525-6718
allison.kubota@nof9.com

or

Society for Science & the Public Sarah Wood, 202-872-5110
swood@societyforscience.org

or

Intel
Gail Dundas, 503-264-2154
gail.dundas@intel.com

Source: Intel