Ted Karkus commented: "I am excited to share the continuing developments at ProPhase as we significantly grow the underlying value of our Company. Our wholly owned subsidiaries, Nebula Genomics and Pharmaloz Manufacturing, are growing at rapid rates. At the same time, we are building out a world class genomics lab to complement our high complexity molecular lab and clinical lab. We believe our BE-Smart Esophageal Cancer Test has multi-billion-dollar potential and is targeted for commercialization early next year and our Linebacker cancer compound continues to have excellent results and significant potential. And finally, we also plan to commercialize Equivir, our broad based anti-viral, later this year. I look forward to providing an overview next Tuesday on many of these initiatives that are making significant progress at ProPhase."

About ProPhase Labs
