Main Street Announces Exit of Portfolio Investment

Generates $8.6 Million Realized Gain and 30.9% Internal Rate of Return From Exit of Investment in NCP Investment Holdings, Inc.

HOUSTON, Oct. 28, 2014 /PRNewswire/ -- Main Street Capital Corporation (NYSE: MAIN) ("Main Street") announced today that it recently fully exited its investment in NCP Investment Holdings, Inc. ("NCP"), a healthcare services company operating free-standing outpatient cardiac and vascular procedure labs. The centers are joint venture partnerships between NCP and a group of physicians (and occasionally hospitals) who perform diagnostic and therapeutic procedures at the site.

Main Street made its initial investment in NCP in 2004 to support growth initiatives, with Main Street's initial investment consisting of a first lien, secured debt investment with an equity warrant participation. Main Street's debt investment in NCP was fully repaid during the second quarter of 2012, and a majority of its equity interest in NCP was purchased by a leading private equity investment firm in the fourth quarter of 2012. In October 2014, Main Street realized a gain of approximately $8.6 million on the sale of its remaining equity interest in NCP in conjunction with a change of control of NCP. On a cumulative basis since Main Street made its initial investment in NCP in 2004, Main Street realized an internal rate of return of 30.9% and a 4.7 times money invested return on its investment in NCP.
