HOUSTON, May 13 /PRNewswire-FirstCall/ -- VAALCO Energy, Inc. (NYSE: EGY), an independent energy company principally engaged in the acquisition, exploration, development and production of crude oil, today announced that it has filed a lawsuit against Nanes Delorme Partners I L.P., a New York based hedge fund, and Pilatus Energy SA, an oil and gas company headquartered in Zug, Switzerland, alleging violations of federal securities laws.

"We believe Nanes Delorme Partners and Pilatus Energy have violated federal securities laws by using proxy materials that were false and misleading, particularly regarding the background and identity of the participants in the proxy solicitation and the serious conflicting interests these participants have to VAALCO and its other stockholders. We filed this suit against Nanes Delorme Partners and Pilatus Energy to ensure that our stockholders receive the complete and accurate information that they deserve and is required by the federal securities laws. We will continue to take all appropriate steps to protect VAALCO's stockholders," said Robert L. Gerry, III, Chairman and CEO of VAALCO.

In the lawsuit filed today in the United States District Court for the Southern District of Texas, Houston Division, VAALCO alleges that Nanes Delorme Partners and Pilatus Energy have violated Section 13(d) and Section 14(a) of the federal securities laws by filing a false and misleading Schedule 13D and by filing false and misleading proxy materials in an attempt to install their three hand-picked, paid nominees onto VAALCO's Board of Directors at the Company's Annual meeting of Stockholders on June 4, 2008.

In its complaint, VAALCO has asked the Court to require, among other things, Nanes Delorme Partners and Pilatus Energy to comply with their disclosure obligations and to enjoin them from voting any proxies Nanes Delorme Partners and Pilatus Energy may obtain prior to the correction of their securities filings.
