Axalta Exhibits Public Transportation Coatings at APTA Expo 2017

GLEN MILLS, Pa.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Axalta Coating Systems (NYSE: AXTA) will showcase its high performance commercial transit coatings at the American Public Transportation Association Expo (APTA Expo) being held at the Georgia World Congress Center in Atlanta, Georgia on October 8-11, 2017. Attendees may visit booth #6437 to learn more about Axalta's diverse portfolio of coatings for the public transportation sector, including Imron Elite™ OEM and aftermarket coatings, Precidium™ floor coatings, and powder products.

"Public transportation vehicles have to get the job done for the public year-round," said Joseph Wood, Axalta Vice President, Commercial Transportation. "They face harsh weather and environmental conditions and endure heavy use. Axalta's range of products are designed to withstand the toughest environments and extend the lifecycle of public transport vehicles."

Axalta supplies liquid and powder coating solutions for manufacturers of public transportation vehicles across all segments including motor coach buses, subway trains and light railway vehicles. Specifically, its industry-leading Imron product line uses innovative cross-linking technology to provide durability, high resistance to wear and low maintenance costs to public transport vehicles.
