DDC x Galaxy

Driving Institutional-
Quality Treasury
Management

The partnership with Galaxy will provide DDC with seamless trading access and a secure, regulated platform to manage DDC’s corporate Bitcoin holdings. Galaxy’s trading team will give DDC access to deeper liquidity and innovative execution strategies, while Galaxy’s institutional trading platform will deliver enterprise-grade security, regulatory compliance, and operational controls that are trusted by some of the world’s largest institutions.

This approach not only unlocks advanced trading and yield-generation possibilities under the highest standards of institutional oversight, but also ensures the safe storage of DDC’s treasury assets.

“Joining forces with Galaxy marks a milestone in our mission to establish the world’s most sophisticated corporate Bitcoin treasury,” said Norma Chu, Founder, Chairwoman and CEO of DDC. “Security and agility are non-negotiable as we scale our holdings, and Galaxy’s integrated platform gives us leading solutions on both fronts. This partnership aligns perfectly with our commitment to prudent, institutional-quality digital asset management and to delivering resilient long-term value for our stakeholders.”

“We are pleased to support DDC Enterprise on its journey to set new standards in publicly listed Bitcoin treasury management,” added Jason Urban, Global Head of Trading at Galaxy. “Our trading infrastructure and services are built for exactly this level of institutional ambition. We look forward to providing DDC with comprehensive solutions that drive both security and performance as their strategy evolves.”

Strategic Partnership Highlights:

- Advanced Trading Integration: Access to Galaxy's deep liquidity and sophisticated execution to optimize DDC's digital asset operations.
- Institutional Platform: DDC leverages Galaxy's secure, regulatory-compliant platform with a multi-custodial model to manage growing digital asset reserves.
- Robust Treasury Infrastructure: Combines trading and digital asset management into a cohesive ecosystem, enabling DDC to operate with increased efficiency, transparency, and control on its digital asset strategy.
