Workhorse Group Provides Business Update

Focused on Advancing Product Roadmap for W4 CC, W750, and W56 Vehicles

Takes Decisive Step to Discontinue the C1000 Program

SEC Concludes Previously Disclosed Investigation Without Taking Enforcement Action

Proceeding with W4 CC Shipments to Customers

CINCINNATI, Dec. 28, 2022 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Workhorse Group Inc. (Nasdaq: WKHS) ("Workhorse" or "the Company"), an American technology company focused on pioneering the transition to zero emission commercial vehicles, today provided a business update as the Company looks ahead to 2023:

- Workhorse is discontinuing the C1000 program, effective immediately, as it fully focuses its resources on advancing its product roadmap for the W4 CC, W750, and W56 vehicles. After thorough engineering review, durability testing and careful consideration, the Company determined the increasing time, cost and resources being devoted to the C1000 are better allocated on the development and production of its other vehicles and products. As a result, the Company expects to record a non-cash inventory write-off of approximately $10 million plus disposal costs.
- The Company received notice from the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") that the previously disclosed investigation of the Company has concluded, and the SEC does not intend to recommend any enforcement action against the Company at this time.
- The W4 CC vehicles that were previously delayed in ports are now beginning to be shipped to Workhorse facilities. The Company is working expeditiously to deliver the vehicles to customers.

"We are pleased to conclude 2022 with legacy issues behind us and are looking ahead to 2023 fully focused on executing our commercial vehicle product roadmaps and advancing our Aero and Stables & Stalls businesses," said the Company's CEO Rick Dauch. "We are on track with our plans to ramp up production and deliveries across our W4 CC, W750 and W56 in 2023 and beyond. The conversations we've had with customers over the last several weeks have reinforced that demand for our vehicles is strong. We remain confident in our ability to win in the EV market and create value for our customers, our communities and our shareholders."

The Company reaffirmed its revised guidance range for 2022, which includes manufacturing and delivering approximately 25-100 vehicles and generating between $5 million and $15 million in revenue. The Company also continues to expect to generate significant revenue growth in 2023, as it ramps up production of its products.
