Volato Expands Its Volato Go! Flight Program to Texas

The expansion adds one-way flights between Dallas, Houston and Austin, expanding the Volato Go! network beyond the West and East Coasts

ATLANTA--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Volato, a leading private aviation company in the United States, today announced the expansion of its Volato Go! capped-price program to include one-way flights between Dallas, Houston and Austin on its HondaJet fleet. Flights are available as of October 10.

“Volato is excited to extend our Volato Go! network to the Texas Triangle,” said Gary Waldman, Executive Vice President of Fleet Performance at Volato. “The intra-Texas aviation market is substantial and well-suited to our four-seat HondaJet fleet of over twenty aircraft (and growing). With Volato Go!, all customers can take advantage of our lowest dynamic market pricing, with the Volato Go! price representing the highest price they will pay. Our best available, all-in pricing approach is an example of the value and transparency we are bringing to private aviation.”

Volato Go! Texas pricing applies to flights between three Texas airports only: DAL (Dallas Love Field), HOU (William P. Hobby Airport) and AUS (Austin-Bergstrom International). Federal excise taxes, segment taxes and catering are not included. As with the existing Volato Go! markets, there are currently no calendar restrictions other than during peak periods, for a limited time. The launch pricing for Volato Go! Texas flights is $6,000 for one-way flights in all markets. Volato Go! bookings are subject to availability and other terms and conditions. This expansion marks the third region with Volato Go! availability. Its West Coast Triangle includes Los Angeles (VNY – Van Nuys), San Francisco (OAK – Metro Oakland International) and Las Vegas (LAS – Harry Reid International), with Volato Go! pricing starting from $6,000 one-way. The East Coast Triangle between New York (TEB - Teterboro), Atlanta (PDK – Dekalb-Peachtree Airport) and Miami (OPF – Miami-Opa Locka Executive Airport) offers Volato Go! pricing starting from $8,000 one-way. All Volato Go! flights are flown on Volato’s floating fleet of HondaJet aircraft.

Volato’s other solutions include aircraft fractional ownership, the Volato Insider Program, Volato Aircraft Management Services, and ad hoc charter, which includes highly discounted Daily Deals. Volato operates nationally with a floating fleet.
