GONZALES, La., Nov. 13, 2012 /PRNewswire/ -- Crown Crafts, Inc. (NASDAQ-CM: CRWS) today reported results for the fiscal 2013 second quarter, which ended September 30, 2012.

"Our second quarter was impacted by several factors, some of which were expected and others that were beyond our control. Late last year, we made the difficult decision to discontinue a private-label bedding program that was unprofitable with the knowledge that doing so would negatively impact our top-line sales while improving our bottom line. As previously announced, we also experienced a shift in orders forward from the second quarter of fiscal 2013 into the first quarter, which resulted in a further reduction in the current year's second quarter sales," said E. Randall Chestnut, Chairman, President and Chief Executive Officer. "Unfortunately, these shortfalls were compounded by the continued challenging macroeconomic conditions facing the industry and the tight inventory levels being held by retailers."

Chestnut continued, "While we are not pleased with the results of the current quarter, we remain very confident in our position within the industry and with our major retailers, as well as in the strength of our products and brands, for several reasons. First, during the second quarter, we saw a 6.8% increase in sales of our own branded products. Second, our margins have improved as we continue to see the benefits of our quick response to increases in raw material prices in early fiscal 2012 when cotton prices were at all-time highs. Since that time, we have strategically reduced our dependence on cotton by successfully redesigning some of our product lines. We also selectively increased prices where appropriate, which positively impacted our bottom line," said Chestnut. "Lastly, despite the pressures on our top line, our earnings for the first half of fiscal 2013 are 3.4% higher than a year ago."

The Company also announced that, in recognition of the Company's strong balance sheet, its Board of Directors declared a special cash dividend of $0.50 per share, which is in addition to the declaration of the quarterly cash dividend of $0.08 per share. Both dividends will be paid on December 27, 2012 from cash on hand to stockholders of record on December 14, 2012. Chestnut stated, "This action by the Board to pay a special dividend is further evidence of its continuing confidence in both the health of our business and the strength of our cash flow. It is intended to reward our stockholders while retaining the financial capability to take advantage of growth opportunities as they arise. With a cash balance of $6.3 million, no debt and $19.0 million in availability on our credit facility at the end of the quarter, we continue to have an exceptionally strong balance sheet and financial flexibility. We remain optimistic about our future and expect to continue to be able to grow stockholder value."

Financial Results
