Ingram Micro Supply Chain Solutions to Exhibit and Host Roundtable at the 2015 Operations Conference

SANTA ANA, CA -- (Marketwired) -- 04/09/15 -- Ingram Micro Inc. (NYSE: IM) today announced its Supply Chain Solutions organization will exhibit and host a round table at the 2015 Operations Summit. The trade show and conference will take place April 14-16 at the Louisville Marriott Downtown Hotel #opssummit.

Ingram Micro Supply Chain Solutions will exhibit at booth #110 and host a roundtable at 12:20pm on April 15 entitled "Creating the Ultimate Customer Experience through Operations." Attendees will participate in an interactive discussion on how shipping requirements, customer care and partner scalability can make or break the customer experience.

"We're excited about participating in the Operations Summit again this year," said Ken Beyer, vice president and general manager, Ingram Micro Supply Chain Solutions. "The conference continues to address the specific operations and fulfillment challenges facing eCommerce companies today. We look forward to joining some of the industry's brightest thought leaders and sharing our insights and best practices for supply chain professionals."

The Operations Summit is powered by Multichannel Merchant magazine and focused exclusively on direct-to-customer operations & fulfillment. Educational sessions will present strategies and tactics to successfully navigate the demands of ship to and from store, free and same-day shipping, and all aspects of the direct-to-consumer channel.
