Inogen Announces Full Operation of New Primary Manufacturing Facility

GOLETA, Calif., March 25, 2015 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) --Inogen, Inc. (Nasdaq:INGN), a medical technology company offering innovative respiratory products for use in the home care setting, announced today that its new manufacturing facility in Richardson, Texas is now operational supporting product manufacturing, packaging, and logistics. The 23,890 square foot facility was leased in December of 2014 for a term of approximately 7 years for the purpose of expanding manufacturing capacity and lowering the company's average per square foot manufacturing cost.

The Company will be converting its prior manufacturing space into office space to allow for the additions of sales, customer service, and billing personnel, as well as other administrative functions.

"We are pleased with the quick ramp we achieved in bringing this new manufacturing facility online. Our goal is a balance of infrastructure growth with cost control through scalable manufacturing, reliability improvements, optimizing asset utilization and reducing service costs. This additional manufacturing space has enabled us to begin to streamline our operations to increase production capacity, while at the same time, provide space for our expanding sales, support, and administrative functions as our business grows," said President and Chief Executive Officer, Raymond Huggenberger.
