ResMed Inc. Announces ASX Waiver Deferring Conversions Between Exchanges For Upcoming Dividend Payment

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 27, 2012 /PRNewswire/ -- ResMed Inc. (NYSE: RMD) today announced that shareholders will not be able to convert ResMed stock between the New York Stock Exchange (NYSE) and the Australian Stock Exchange (ASX) between and including August 31, 2012 and September 7, 2012.

On August 2, 2012, as previously announced, the ResMed board of directors declared a quarterly dividend of $0.17 per share, which will have a record date of September 7, 2012, and be payable on September 28, 2012. The dividend will be paid in US currency to holders of its common stock trading on the NYSE. Holders of CHESS Depositary Instruments (CDIs) trading on the ASX will receive an equivalent amount in Australian currency, based on the exchange rate on the record date, also reflecting the 10:1 ratio between CDIs and US common shares listed on the NYSE.

Because the two exchanges have different settlement and transfer procedures, the ex-dividend periods before the record date will be different for common stock and for CDIs. The ex-dividend day will be September 3, 2012 for CDI holders and September 5, 2012 for common stock holders. As a result of these differences, the ASX has granted ResMed a waiver from ASX's settlement operating rules, which will allow ResMed to defer processing conversions between its common stock and CDI registers from August 31, 2012 through September 7, 2012, inclusive.

ResMed is also changing its transfer agent from American Stock Transfer and Trust Co. LLC to Computershare, effective close of business August 24, 2012. Contact information for Computershare will be available on ResMed's Website under the Investor Section.
