SAN DIEGO, June 20, 2016 /PRNewswire/ -- ResMed (NYSE:RMD) today issued the following statement related to Brightree's announcement of its new executive team, from president of healthcare informatics Raj Sodhi:

"Matt Mellott and Bobby Ghoshal join an exceptional senior leadership team with a commitment to customer-centered innovation and a culture of excellence. They will continue moving Brightree forward, expanding on the company's leadership in business management and clinical software applications for the post-acute care industry."

"Brightree wouldn't be the company it is today without the leadership of Dave Cormack, whose tenure as president and CEO began in 2005. We're pleased Dave has agreed to stay on in an advisory role to ensure a smooth transition."

"ResMed and Brightree will continue to shape the frontier of digital health. Their innovations in software, informatics and devices will continue to improve patients' quality of life, slow the progression of chronic diseases and lower overall healthcare system costs while enabling HMEs and other post-acute care providers to better manage their businesses and optimize patient care."
