During the quarter ended December 31, 2017, EVI continued to execute on its buy-and-build growth strategy by completing the acquisition of Tri-State Technical Services, Inc. on October 31, 2017. Additionally, on December 12, 2017, the Board of Directors approved a special cash dividend on EVI's Common Stock of $.12 per share.

Subsequently, EVI completed the acquisition of AAdvantage Laundry Systems, Inc. and Sky-Rent LP (collectively "AAdvantage") on February 9, 2018. The additions of Tri-State and AAAdvantage are consistent with EVI's stated goal to build a national distribution presence and the industry's only contiguous installation and service network from which to best serve industrial, commercial, and vended laundry customers. Further, the addition of Sky-Rent provides EVI a portfolio of commercial laundry rental and lease agreements and a proven rental and lease program for the commercial laundry industry, which EVI intends to expand to its other business units.

Henry M. Nahmad, EVI's Chairman and CEO, stated: "EVI delivered another record quarter with strong sales in the industrial, commercial, and vended segments of the laundry industry. Our Company experienced positive sales momentum evidenced by a growing backlog of customer orders, which are expected to be filled during fiscal 2018 and beyond. While we focus on building our existing businesses, EVI is aggressively pursuing acquisition opportunities that meet our financial and strategic criteria."

Mr. Nahmad added: "We were pleased to reward our stockholders with the special cash dividend, reflecting our continued confidence in the Company's ability to generate strong cash flow while investing in our long-term buy-and-build growth strategy."

It is important to note that the timing of revenue recognition related to the sale and installation of commercial, industrial, and vended laundry products is occasionally impacted by delays related to installation schedules.

Use of Non-GAAP Financial Information

In this release, EVI discloses the non-GAAP financial measure of Adjusted EBITDA, which EVI defines as earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation, amortization, and amortization of share-based compensation. Adjusted EBITDA is determined by adding interest expense, income taxes, depreciation, amortization, and amortization of share-based compensation to net income, as shown in the attached Condensed Consolidated Statement of Adjusted EBITDA (Earnings before Interest, Taxes, Depreciation, Amortization, and Amortization of Share-based Compensation). EVI considers Adjusted EBITDA to be an important indicator of its operating performance. Adjusted EBITDA is also used by companies, lenders, investors and others because it excludes certain items that can vary widely across different industries or among companies within the same industry. For example, interest expense can be dependent on a company's capital structure, debt levels and credit ratings, and the tax positions of companies can vary because of their differing abilities to take advantage of tax benefits and because of the tax policies of the jurisdictions in which they operate. Adjusted EBITDA should not be considered as an alternative to net income or any other measure of financial performance or liquidity, including cash flow, derived in accordance with GAAP, or to any other method of analyzing EVI's results as reported under GAAP. In addition, EVI's definition of Adjusted EBITDA may not be comparable to definitions of Adjusted EBITDA or other similarly titled measures used by other companies.
