Camber Energy Sub Lineal Industries Awarded $3.9 Million Pipeline Repair Project by Major Oil and Gas Company

HOUSTON, TX / ACCESSWIRE / August 5, 2019 /Camber Energy, Inc. (NYSE American:CEI) (“Camber” or the “Company”) based in Houston, Texas, announced today that its recently acquired subsidiary, Lineal Industries, Inc (“Lineal”) www.LinealStar.com, has been awarded a new contract from a large-cap master limited partnership owned by one of the larger oil and gas companies in the United States. The project entails re-construction of approximately 2,000 lineal feet of 20-inch gas pipeline, including a complete road and creek crossing located in South Western Pennsylvania. Budget for this project is approximately $3.9 million (US) and the project is expected to commence immediately and finish in the next 90 days. Craig Crawford, President of Lineal Industries commented, “This is an exciting addition to our pipeline of business, with immediate positive results for Lineal. The ability to swiftly deploy our safe and efficient workforce to projects of this size to major customers is exactly why Camber Energy acquired Lineal and how we are creating value for Camber.”
