Nicknamed the Stevies for the Greek word meaning “crowned”, the award program received more than 3,700 nominations from organizations of all sizes. Virtually every industry was submitted this year for consideration in a wide range of categories, including Startup of the Year, Executive of the Year, Best New Product or Service of the Year, Marketing Campaign of the Year, Thought Leader of the Year, and App of the Year, among others.

Ameresco's 2020 and 2021 ESG reports were nominated in the publication category for publicly held corporations. This recognition follows the publication of the company's latest ESG report, which centered on the theme of “Doing Well by Doing Good: Innovation. Action. Integrity.”

“Since our inception more than 22 years ago, Ameresco has provided our customers with guidance on energy infrastructure solution sets in pursuit of their sustainability goals. We are so pleased to have acted on our own ESG initiatives and honored to be recognized for those efforts,” said George Sakellaris, CEO and President, Ameresco. “We feel energized to use this momentum to continue supporting our customers in their pursuit of a resilient, net-zero future.”

More than 230 professionals worldwide participated in the judging process to select this year's Stevie Award winners.
