About XOMA Corporation
XOMA discovers and develops innovative antibody therapeutics. XOMA has an extensive portfolio of products, programs, and technologies that are the subject of licenses the company has in place with other biotech and pharmaceutical companies. There are more than 20 such programs that are fully funded by partners and could produce milestone payments and royalty payments in the future. XOMA continues to advance Phase 2 development activities for 358, an allosteric monoclonal antibody that reduces insulin receptor activity, as the antibody could have a major impact on the treatment of hyperinsulinism, particularly congenital hyperinsulinism and hypoglycemia after bariatric surgery.
