

Prominent Industry Leaders Join Volt Workforce Solutions

NEW YORK—August 22, 2018—Volt Information Sciences, Inc. (“Volt” or the “Company”) (NYSE-MKT: VISI), a global staffing and services company, announced it has hired two key business executives, further strengthening Volt’s senior leadership team as the Company advances its growth and profitability strategies. Joining the Company are Lori Schultz, Chief Operating Officer, Volt Workforce Solutions and Lauren Griffin, Senior Vice President, Specialty Solutions Group, Volt Workforce Solutions.

“Perhaps the most important part of our effort to strengthen and grow Volt is to have the requisite talent in place to lead our organization. I am pleased to announce that we have attracted world-class talent to propel this Company forward and drive results,” said Linda Perneau, Volt’s Interim President & CEO. “Lori and Lauren are proven industry leaders with demonstrated success in building strong teams, driving revenue and producing positive outcomes. I am confident that these executives are the right leaders – both on a personal and professional level – to deliver on our strategy. Together with Volt’s existing team, these leadership changes will enhance our ability to increase shareholder value, while providing outstanding service to our clients and employees.”

Lori Schultz, Chief Operating Officer, Volt Workforce Solutions –Ms. Schultz joins Volt at the height of her successful career spanning 25 years in the global staffing industry, most recently with Pontoon. She began her career with Manpower and then moved to Adecco where she was consistently promoted to various leadership roles, culminating in the position of Senior Vice President leading two major business units -- Ajilon IT Consulting and Adecco Technical/Medical & Sciences/Energy and Government Services. In 2009, she became Global President of Yoh Services, where she led a successful business transformation which resulted in returning the business to profitability in just one year by improving sales, marketing, and operations. Most recently, Ms. Schultz served as the Senior Vice President, Global Program Management at Pontoon, where she was responsible for Global Management Services, RPO and Statement of Work Solutions.

Lauren Griffin, Senior Vice President, Specialty Solutions Group, Volt Workforce Solutions –Ms. Griffin has over 25 years of significant experience leading sales and operations in the staffing industry, primarily with Adecco. She began her career at TAD Resources International, which was acquired by Adecco. Ms. Griffin enjoyed success that earned her successive roles of increasing responsibility in sales and operations. Most recently, she was the Senior Vice President, North Central Division, where she led sales, account management, recruitment and operations.
