Ecovyst Announces Strategic Review of its Advanced Materials & Catalysts Business Unit

MALVERN, Pa., Dec. 2, 2024 /PRNewswire/ -- Ecovyst Inc. (NYSE: ECVT), a leading integrated and innovative global provider of advanced materials, specialty catalysts, sulfuric acid and regeneration services, today announced that its Board of Directors has initiated a strategic review process for its Advanced Materials & Catalysts business ("AM&C"). This announcement is an extension of the Board's ongoing evaluation and review of the business, aimed at maximizing shareholder value.

AM&C is comprised of two business units. Advanced Silicas is an internationally leading provider of silica-based advanced materials and catalysts, essential for the production of polyethylene, biocatalysts, and functional chemicals. Zeolyst International, a joint venture with Shell, is a world-leading supplier of zeolite-based advanced materials and catalysts. These are crucial for the production of distillate and sustainable fuels, including renewable diesel and sustainable aviation fuels.

"We remain very positive on the long-term outlook for Advanced Materials & Catalysts as supported by our growth investments in the business," said Kurt Bitting, Chief Executive Officer of Ecovyst. "AM&C manufactures high-performance products and is a critical innovation partner for its customers. The unique attributes of the business are underscored by what we believe are its attractive financial characteristics. The objective of this strategic review will be to evaluate options available to the company to maximize the value contribution of AM&C to Ecovyst and its stockholders."

Ecovyst expects to complete the strategic review of the AM&C business unit in Mid-2025. The strategic review may not result in any transaction or other outcome. The company does not intend to make any further public comment regarding the strategic review until it has been completed or the company determines that disclosure is required or beneficial.
